McGovern considers 6 running mate stand-ins

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern, giving thorough and careful consideration to at least six prime candidates, will announce his new choice of a vice presidential running mate "within the next few days," his office said Tuesday.

McGovern was reported to be considering former Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and several Senate colleagues as successor to Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton. He withdrew from the party's 1972 ticket Monday night at McGovern's request.

The South Dakota senator cancelled plans to make a statement from his Washington home about the Eagleton resignation when the broadcast networks would give no firm assurances of live coverage.

A few hours before the scheduled 9 p.m. EDT statement, McGovern's office said he had postponed for several days, when he would make "an announcement of the person he will recommend as the vice presidential nominee to the forthcoming meeting of the Democratic National Committee."

The newly revamped, 303-member committee, still being reorganized, will meet some time next week to ratify McGovern's choice.

Sources said the top list of candidates under consideration by McGovern also included Kennedy in-law Sargent Shriver, the former Peace Corps Director; Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin, and Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin and Frank Church of Idaho.

Asked about this list, Gary Hart, McGovern's campaign director, said he might add "a name or two."

Nelson removed himself from consideration late in the day, saying "it's not the job I want. I'd rather be in the U.S. Senate."

At a news conference late Monday night at which he and Eagleton announced that the Missourian was stepping aside, McGovern said he would make a recommendation to the national committee "within a few days."

"We are going to be very cautious and very careful in making the vice presidential nomination," McGovern told reporters.

Eagleton, 42, who withdrew at McGovern's request six days after disclosing a history of psychiatric trouble, said he had "no rancor in my heart" over McGovern's decision. But he made clear that he wanted to remain on the national ticket and told McGovern so.

Once McGovern's mind was made up, Eagleton said they did not discuss his possible successor. "The presidential candidate should have the complete option to pick whom ever he wants."

Although he sought to remain as his running mate, Eagleton said it never occurred to resist McGovern's suggestion that he withdraw.

"I totally dismissed...a head-to-head battle. The presidential candidate must have rapport, complete rapport with the vice presidential candidate," Eagleton said.

McGovern spent most of the day in the Senate, waging an unsuccessful battle to cut $4 billion out of President Nixon's defense budget. Members rejected McGovern's amendment to a $20 billion military procurement bill on a 59-33 vote although Eagleton argued in favor of McGovern's proposal.

The insider at the McGovern camp told UPI the strengths and weaknesses of each of the six top contenders had been drawn up. He listed them as:

O'Brien —Former top aide to President John F. Kennedy, former Cabinet officer for President Lyndon B. Johnson and former Democratic national chairman, with the strong ties to Democratic regulars and organized labor that McGovern lacks. "But he has never been elected to anything," the source said, "and he is linked to the 'old politics.'"

Muskie —The 1968 vice presidential nominee and McGovern's contender for the Democratic presidential nomination. But he refused to drop out of the race before the convention and his nomination would repel a lot of McGovern supporters across the nation.

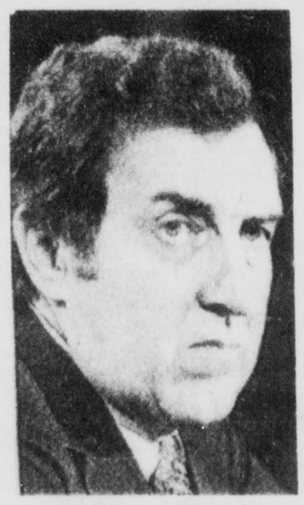

Shriver —He is married to Eunice Kennedy and is the former director of the Peace Corps and ambassador to France. But he never has been elected to anything either.

Nelson —Former governor of Wisconsin and McGovern's best friend in the Senate. He has a certain "Ralph Nader-ish" appeal in the environmental field, where McGovern's record is adequate but not great. But he appeals to essentially the same constituency as McGovern.

Lucey —An early Kennedy supporter and a stalwart in the recent McGovern primary campaigns. But he doesn't project a great image and is not a great speaker.

Church —"A good speaker and TV-type," a weakness of McGovern. But he comes from a state with few electrical votes and as an early opponent of the Vietnam war, appeals to essentially the same constituency as McGovern.

No 'Checkers' for Tom

Eagleton signs out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton formally resigned Tuesday as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, and disclosed he had briefly considered making a Nixon-style "Checkers speech" to the nation to try to salvage his place on the ticket.

"In my instance it would have been a 'Pumpkin' speech, because that's the name of my dog," Eagleton said. It was a light-hearted reference to President Nixon's famed 1952 address as the Republican vice presidential nominee, seeking to clear his name in a political fund controversy.

But Eagleton said he decided against making such an open appeal for public support and never discussed it with Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern.

Meeting reporters in his office the day after he withdrew as McGovern's running mate, Eagleton said he was "relaxed, not morose," as he returned to a senator's routine 19 days after the Democratic convention made him a national figure overnight.

He said he entered his fateful meeting with McGovern Monday night convinced he had a "compelling and convincing case" for staying on the ticket despite the furor over his past mental treatments.

"I took 20 minutes to summarize my case, showing him statistics, citing my successful trip to California, Hawaii, getting Gene Wyman (Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey's finance chairman) to work for the party, (San Francisco Mayor Joseph) Alioto to work, reminded him that (Chicago Mayor Richard) Daley had kind things to say about me, that the Retail Clerks Union vigorously endorsed the ticket..."

Then, said Eagleton, McGovern presented his own case, noting telephone calls, letters and warning flags from potential contributors. "He deemed it best that I be off, and I joined with him," said Eagleton.

State rests case against Bremer

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—The state rested its case Tuesday after psychiatrists testifying for both the defense and prosecution agreed that Arthur H. Bremer suffered mental disorders, but disagreed whether he knew right from wrong when he shot Gov. George C. Wallace.

The psychiatrist testified after FBI experts told the jury they were unable to provide laboratory proof that Bremer fired the gun that wounded Wallace, and a physician said the odds were that Wallace would never walk again without mechanical aids.

The prosecution abuptly ended its case late in the afternoon after only two days of testimony after its witnesses testified that although Bremer suffered some mental disorders, he was nevertheless capable of realizing the criminability of his action when he shot the Alabama governor in a Laurel, Md., shopping center May 15.

Testifying for the defense, which entered a plea of innocent by reason of insanity, Dr. Sheila M. Gray said she examined Bremer July 15 and July 22, and found him to be suffering from "latent schizophrenia."

"He lacked substantial capacity to either appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law," said Dr. Gray, who practices psychiatry in the District of Columbia and southern Maryland.

$1 million skyjackers ask Algerian asylum

ALGIERS (UPI)—An eight-member "family," including three children, asked for asylum in Algeria Tuesday after hijacking a Delta Airlines jetliner from Florida to Algiers and collecting a record million dollar ransom despite their belief that "money destroys people."

U. S. officials in Algiers said they were optimistic that the ransom would be returned to Delta. Airport sources said it was "safe to assume" Algerian authorities had already impounded the money.

The hijackers—three men, two women and three children —were questioned at Dar el Beida airport by an Algerian Foreign Ministry official and then driven into the city in a bus. The Delta DC8, empty of its 86 other passengers who had been allowed to disembark at Miami, took off for the United States with a Barcelona stopover.

Sources at the U. S. mission said it would be "logical" if Algerian officials handled the hijacking as they did June 3 when two young air pirates forced a Western airliner to Algiers.

The Algerians returned the couple's half million dollar ransom to the airline and the two hijackers were allowed to live with exiled American Black Panthers in Algiers pending an investigation as to whether they should receive political asylum.

"We are in constant contact with the Algerians on today's incident and we have no reason to be pessimistic," one U.S. official said.

Bobby Fischer

Fischer holds lead with draw

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI) —Boris Spassky accepted challenger Bobby Fischer's offer of a draw after 29 moves in the ninth game of their world championship chess match Tuesday, enabling the American to maintain his two-point advantage in the contest.

The draw gave Fischer 5.5 match points to Spassky's 3.5, and it put the Russian in an increasingly difficult position in the 24-game, $250,000 match.

Fischer, playing black, completed his 29th move and glanced up from the chess board to catch his opponent's eye. The American nodded slightly, and the two players rose simultaneously and shook hands to signify the game had ended in a draw.

Referee Lothar Schmid of West Germany confirmed afterward that it was Fischer who offered the draw and Spassky who accepted it since it was not clear immediately to the observers in the Reykjavik auditorium where the match is being played.

The ninth game had been postponed two days from Sunday because Spassky was suffering from a head cold.

Playing white Tuesday, the Russian used his standard queen's pawn opening and then waited for Fischer to appear.

As he has done in all of the games played so far, Fischer arrived late.

Play quickly developed into a Queen's Gambit, Tarrasch variation style. But on his ninth move, Fischer made an entirely new play by advancing out his queen's knight pawn. He put Spassky in check on the following two moves.

"This is the first time I have seen this variation," U.S. Grandmaster Luubomir Kavalek, a Czechoslovak refugee, said of Fischer's ninth move.

Anderson 'humbly' apologizes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Offering his "humble apology," columnist Jack Anderson retracted Tuesday his report that Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton had been arrested several times for drunken and reckless driving.

After a 45-minute meeting with Eagleton, Anderson conceded his report had damaged the Missouri senator's short-lived vice presidential candidacy, which was finally terminated because of debate over his past psychiatric treatment.

"I think the story did damage to the senator and I owe him a great and humble apology for that," Anderson told reporters.

Eagleton, who joined Anderson at a brief news conference, described Anderson as a "distinguished journalist ... a man of candor" and said he was "very pleased with the statement he made ... the book is closed."

Anderson said he re-checked "every scrap of evidence" and had not been able to verify his initial report Eagleton had been arrested for drunken and reckless driving in the 1960s.

Democrats badly shaken

BY CHERYL SHAW
AND TIM METZ
Ottaway News Service

Democrats in the northeast have been badly shaken by disclosures of past mental illness by Sen. Thomas Eagleton and his subsequent withdrawal from the vice presidential slot on the party's ticket. But most don't see the blow as fatal.

That's the impression that emerged from telephone interviews Tuesday with a score of Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts delegates to last month's Democratic National Convention.

"I still think McGovern will win, but I recognize it will be a lot tougher now," said Alan Gussow, an artist, author and conservationist from Congers, N.Y. Gussow, who was a McGovern delegate to Miami, added that "It's still early in the campaign and in the same way that lots of people will tend to forget the Eagleton affair. . .I've always been hardnosed about it; McGovern wasn't ever going to have an easy time of it. And I'd bet money Nixon is a bigger favorite now than two weeks ago," he said.

Less confident

A few delegates appeared a bit less confident than Gussow about McGovern's prospects in the face of the Eagleton affair.

Listen to Betty J. Reese, a Greenville, Pa., mother of eight who was also a McGovern delegate to Miami: "I'm terribly mixed up about (the Eagleton affair). It really is a loss of image as far as McGovern is concerned. No matter which decision he made — to keep Eagleton or ask him to resign — it had to be the wrong one in some people's minds. It was just an impossible situation to get out of without damage," she said.

The necessity of changing vice presidential candidates "has damaged (McGovern) a great deal," in Mrs. Reese's opinion. "My brother-in-law told me the other day, 'too bad; you haven't a prayer.' I told him I thought he was wrong. Yet, it does throw some slight shadow on (McGovern's) judgment. He certainly can't afford to make any more mistakes," she said.

Just one of the delegates interviewed — A Pennsylvania woman Muskie delegate who declined to be identified — believed the McGovern — Eagleton affair spells electoral doom in November. "McGovern really hurt himself with this thing," she said. "Don't tell anybody, but I really dont' think he can win now."

George flunks 1st test

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In the first legislative test of one of George S. McGovern's principal campaign issues, the Senate defeated his proposal Tuesday to cut the defense budget by $4 billion. The vote against the Democratic presidential nominee was 59 to 33.

In his first major floor speech since he won the nomination in Miami Beach three weeks ago, McGovern charged that the defense budget would soar to $100 billion by 1975 if Congress approved President Nixon's $81.6 billion request for the fiscal year that began July 1.

McGovern's argument, undisputed during the debate, was that the latest request included $4 billion for initial purchases for new weapons systems to be delivered in later years at a much heavier cost.

His proposed amendment to a $20.5 billion military procurement authorization bill would have left this year's Pentagon allowances at last year's $77.6 billion level.

In its rejection, 55 to 39, on a preliminary test, the only Republican to vote with McGovern and other Democrats was Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

McGovern said a defense budget burden of $100 billion by 1975 was "simply too great for today's strained economy to bear. In the name of national security, it would undermine our safety and debase the real sources of our strength more than anything else we might do."

Prospect of $3 billion SS revenue-share rider raised

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Chairman Russell B. Long of the Senate Finance Committee raised the prospect Tuesday of attaching $3 million in additional Social Security benefits to President Nixon's federal-state revenue sharing proposal.

"It might serve a purpose," said the Louisiana Democrat, to attach the politically popular Social Security provisions as a rider to Nixon's bill to share $30 million in federal revenues with states and cities.

The liberalizations would come atop the 20 per cent across-the-board increase in benefits Congress enacted June 30 as a rider to another bill Nixon could hardly veto —a measure extending the ceiling on the national debt.

Included in Long's new proposals are an additional 17.5 per cent increase in benefits for widows and a provision under which Medicare health insurance for the elderly would cover the cost of many of the drugs needed by the elderly.

Long's suggestion was called a trial balloon by some of his associates. Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, said he was opposed "but I'm not closing my mind to the tactical situation."

The Social Security provisions are now part of Nixon's welfare reform bill, which has little likelihood of passing.

Long made his comments after his committee held its first drafting session on the House-passed bill to share $30 billion in revenue over the next five years with state and local governments. He expressed hope that the bill would pass before Congress recesses for the Republican National Convention Aug. 18.

The Social Security proposals which could be attached include provisions:

—Giving widows and widowers 100 per cent of their former spouses' benefits upon the spouses' death, instead of 82.5 per cent now provided.

—Raising from $1,680 to $2,000 the amount retired workers could earn without losing any Social Security payments.

—Extending Medicare to cover all but $1 of the cost of prescriptions for 12 diseases common among the elderly.

— Increasing benefits for those who delay retirement beyond age 65.

—Liberalizing the computation by which payments are determined for men.

Gov. has Senate in family

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— Saying he wanted someone who agreed with his own philosophy and who would not use the job for personal or political gain, Gov. Edwin Edwards Tuesday named his wife, Elaine, to the $42,500-a-year seat of the late Sen. Allen J. Ellender

"Needless to say I'm excited beyond words," Mrs. Edwards said. "But let's have no misgivings. I'm not a United States senator. But I know that with the help of Sen. (Russell) Long and the rest of the Louisiana delegation I'll be able to get along just fine."

Mrs. Edwards said she helped her husband during his tenure as a congressman "so I'm not unfamiliar with what's going on in Washington."

Ellender, the president pro tempore of the Senate, died Thursday while campaigning for a seventh term. He was 81.

Maneuver sets vote

Anti-bus amendment clear

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a rarely used parliamentary move, House anti-busing forces Tuesday forced a proposed constitutional amendment from the Judiciary committee, where it had been bogged down for more than a year, clearing it for a floor vote.

The House Rules Committee voted 9 to 6 to take the anti-busing amendment away from the Judiciary Committee and schedule it for a vote by the full House. The vote could come as early as Thursday.

It is unusual for the Rules Committee to approve such a legislative by-pass, but it bowed to heavy pressure to provide measures to prevent court-ordered busing as a means of integrating public schools.

While clearing the way for a constitutional amendment that would outlaw court-ordered busing, the rules committee put off until next week a decision on an administration-sought bill that would halt all new court-ordered busing until next July 1 —a measure that is also tied up.

Rules Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said his committee would give the Education and Labor Committee until Tuesday to act on a second administration bill that would set alternative desegregation standards before busing could be ordered. Without action by that time, said Colmer, his committee would consider taking the moratorium measure away from the Judiciary Committee, too.

Judiciary Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said the Rules Committee action "was most ill-advised."

"I doubt very much that the constitutional amendment will pass the House, and if it does it will not pass the Senate," said Celler. "Busing is not such a high principle that it should be included in the Constitution, which is a bundle of principles, not statutes."

But House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford said he was pleased by the action.

Third party favorite emerges

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)— Rep. John G. Schmitz, R-Calif., a member of the arch-conservative John Birch Society, loomed Tuesday as the front-runner for the American Party's presidential nomination.

Although Georgia Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox was still a possibility, party sources indicated that Schmitz was the current favorite to fill the void left by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace's decision not to seek the party nomination.

Schmitz, a lame-duck congressman who was defeated in the Republican primary this year, was expected to declare his candidacy in Washington.

The three-day American Party convention opens here Thursday with some 2,000 delegates from 45 states expected to participate.

The only announced candidates for the party's presidential nomination are attorney Richard B. Kay of Cleveland and Mrs. Lucy Mayberry, a 66-year-old woman who hitchhiked to the convention from Washington to draw attention to her candidacy.

Maddox was scheduled to address the convention Friday night after the delegates have nominated their presidential candidate during balloting that afternoon.

Airlines ordered to probe suspects

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Declaring an emergency, the Federal Aviation Administration Tuesday ordered airlines to search any passenger who appeared to be a potential hijacker.

"Because of the continuing menace of air piracy and other crimes aboard aircraft and because of the serious nature of this threat to the safety of persons and property, I find that an emergency exists requiring immediate action," said FAA Administrator John Shaffer.

He announced new regulations requiring airlines to bar from boarding a plane any ticket holder who fits the FAA's "security profile" unless his baggage has been searched and he himself cleared through a metal detector or submitted to a personal search by security personnel.

Previously, anyone fitting the security profile —exhibiting certain personal chracteristics indicative of a hijacker —had only to provide proper identification.

Shaffer noted that the FAA had recommended July 14 that the airlines voluntarily adopt the new search procedure and that some already were using the stricter regulations.

But he said Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe, following consultation with President Nixon last month, ordered the FAA to make the new procedure mandatory for all U.S. airlines.

Woman, shot during foiled jail break, dies

BOSTON (UPI)—A woman who smuggled ammunition to her husband at the Norfolk Prison Colony died Tuesday, one day after he shot her and then killed himself when their desperate attempt to break out after killing two jail employes failed.

In another development, the superintendent of the Norfolk Prison Colony said Tuesday he had learned an escape attempt was imminent and three times last week had urged the transfer of convicted murderer Walter Elliott from the medium security facility at Norfolk to a high security prison.

Norfolk Superintendent George H. Bohlinger said all three requests to the state Corrections Department — the first two by telephone and the last in a letter to Corrections Commissioner John O. Boone— were fruitless.

Elliott, serving a life term, made his escape attempt Monday morning. Before it ended, he had shot and killed two employes of the prison colony, his wife, who apparently had smuggled the bullets into him during a routine visit Monday morning, and then himself. A fifth victim of the tragedy, another guard, was shot but was expected to survive.

Kissinger holds secret talks

PARIS (UPI)—President Nixon's special peace envoy, Henry A. Kissinger, conferred privately in Paris Tuesday for the 15th time with North Vietnamese negotiators, the White House announced.

Both U. S and North Vietnamese peace delegations kept a complete silence, however, about the announced session which brought Kissinger together with Hanoi Communist party Politburo member Le Duc Tho and Xuan Thuy, head of North Vietnam's peace talks delegation.

Highway hazard

Motorists along Route 940 at the intersection with Route 611 in Mount Pocono were confronted with a pile of shale along the fog covered highway Monday. Truckers hauling shale from a pit in Paradise Valley to Pocono Farms in Tobyhanna, dropped shale along the highway. Mt. Pocono Police Chief Robert Hartman set up safety flares to alert motorists and contacted the truckers who cleared the shale from the highway within 20 minutes. (Frank Smith photo)

Bigger festival planned

Races boost economy in Poconos

STROUDSBURG — Joe Leonard and Roger McCluskey weren't the only people making lots of money in the Poconos last weekend.

According to Robert Uguccioni, executive director of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, the region received a 25 to 30 per cent boost to its summer economy.

Last week Uguccioni stated most of the area's resorts and hotels were "at their capacity" and had been for as long as two or three weeks preceding the dual 500 mile races at Pocono International Raceway.

He also noted the heavy tourist influx was not unusual for this time of year. This report was verified by local service station operators who said business was good but not unusually heavy.

The PMVB executive pointed out Monday the measure of economic success in the Poconos in conjunction with events at the raceway could only be arrived at by looking into the "intensity" of sales.

"Take gas stations, for instance," he said. "If someone drives up to a service station and sees a long line of cars, they'll naturally go to another station. Some areas are naturally busy at this time of year but you'll probably find that everyone was busy these past few weeks.

"There was high intensity of sales all across the mountain and that's what we wanted to achieve," said Uguccioni.

Remarking about the Schaefer 500 at Pocono Festival and its success, he stated, "June is usually a month for honeymooners and conventioners. With the festival, we're trying to make it a month for families, too. We worked hard all year arranging festival events and had good cooperation from everyone."

He said the PMVB is working to achieve the same results the Indianapolis festival people have achieved; almost a full month of pre-race festivities and celebrations. "It's just like the New Orleans Mardi Gras out there In fact, the race is almost anti-climatic.

Noting most of the festival events around the Indianapolis 500 are held within the city itself, Uguccioni voiced the opinion that the Pocono Festival may be better — "in a way."

"Out there (Indianapolis) you only see the town. With many of our events scheduled throughout the Pocono Mountains, people get to see the entire area. They visit all the places of interest; the resorts, businesses, land developments and really get a chance to see how beautiful this area is. That's the job of the PMVB and that's why we're so interested in the festival.

Marilyn Kane and Joan Toms, who cooperatively put the race festival together this year, believe it went well despite the inconveniences caused by the initial postponement of the race.

"We're very pleased," said Mrs. Kane. She expressed hope for more successful festivals and eventually become "more organized." She even hinted at a special organizing group solely responsible for festival planning.

"The PMVB put together the entire festival for the past two years," she said. "It's getting much bigger and more complicated and we're going to try and organize a special body or office that will handle the race festival on a full time basis."

She explained the festival planning requires about three months of full time work to arrange beside holding meetings and setting up committees throughout the year. The festival committee would be a part of the PMVB but release the regular office staff to carry on their regular duties.

Marriage rate increases

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG — Marriages and divorce in Monroe County increased during 1970 over the preceding years, according to an analysis just completed by the State Department of Health.

For instance, marriages totaled 474 that year, as compared with 426 the preceding year, while divorce in the county increased from 89 to 113.

For those who might wonder which month was the most popular on the marriage front in the county — and which was the month more shied away from — the following month-to-month comparison (with the preceding year noted in parenthesis) perhaps provides the answer:

January, 34 (21); February, 22 :(31); March, 24 (31); April, 28 (20); May, 50 (36); June, 55 (62) July, 44 (31); August, 65 (49); September, 36 (40); October, 53 (34); November, 32 (39); and December, 31 (32).

In neighboring Pike County marriages increased from 88 to 89, and divorces also increased from 19 to 24.

On a month-to-month basis this is the story in the county on the marriage front during the past year (with the preceding year noted in parenthesis):

January, five (four); February, seven (none listed); March, six (five); April, three (five); May, 11 (six); June, nine (11); July, six (four); August, ten (13); September, nine (nine); October, 15 (ten); November, five (nine); and December, three (12).

Statewide the number of marriages dropped from 94,861 to 94,516. Most marriages, approximately 83 per cent, were by religious ceremonies, according to the report. June, once again, remains the most popular month for marriages with 12,939 weddings taking place — while only 4,611 marriages were performed in March, the least favored month.

The median age for all brides in 1970 was 22.2 years; for grooms, 23.8 years. Over 23 per cent of the women married in this state during the year were under 20 years of age. The number of men married in this age group increased from 8,635 in 1969 to 9,083 in 1970 and accounted for 9.6 per cent of all grooms.

'Peanuts' gang brought to life

TANNERSVILLE — "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown," comes to Camelback's Summer Playhouse in the Poconos August 7 to 19, and all the "simple innocence and untroubled joy" of one day in the life of Charlie Brown on the "Peanuts" gang bring to Pocono patrons the humor and pleasure that has delighted audiences throughout the world.

For this magical off-Broadway smash hit set to the music of Clark Gessner can be enjoyed by all ages, through the enjoyment may be there for entirely different reasons.

"Whether Snoopy is singing "Suppertime," Linus relating to us quite frankly about his blanket, Lucy acting as the world's only five cent psychiatrist, or the whole gang telling all of us what "Happiness Is. .", the joy and pathos of these comic strip people, brought to hilarious life, cross all generations to a point where "childhood and adult wisdom meet."

James Morse, Marsha Warner, D.G. Clark, Rosalind Breslow, Richard Sabellico and Walter Walker have the fun of playing the "Peanuts" characters.

Performances are nightly (except Sundays) at 8:30 p.m., with matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays at 2:30 p.m.

Special family rates are in effect for this special family show. Pre-theatre dinner is served, a scenic picnic area is available for families and groups, and the Tannersville airconditioned playhouse is just five minutes away from Interstate 80 between Stroudsburg and Mt. Pocono.

Tickets may be ordered directly from Camelback or through agencies in Allentown, Scranton and Easton

Woman injured

MILFORD — A 31-year-old New Jersey woman was listed in fair condition at St. Francis' Hospital in Port Jervis, N.Y., Tuesday after she was injured in a one car accident on Route 6 near Milford Monday night.

Mrs. Beverly Caracciola, of Lindhurst, N.J., was a passenger in the car driven by her husband, Louis, also 31, when the accident occurred. The couple's two children, Kathy 8, and Denise, 5, were treated and released from the hospital. Caracciola also received treatment at St. Francis' Hospital for minor injuries.

Motorist critically injured

ALLENTOWN — Mrs. Eleanor Miller, 52, of 732 William St., Pen Argyl, remained in critical condition at Allentown General Hospital Tuesday as the result of injuries suffered in a car-truck accident Monday on Route 145.

Mrs. Miller's daughter, Eleanor, 12, was in satisfactory condition at the hospital. Mrs. Miller's husband, Harold, 57, driver of the car, and their son, Kenneth, 21, were treated and released.

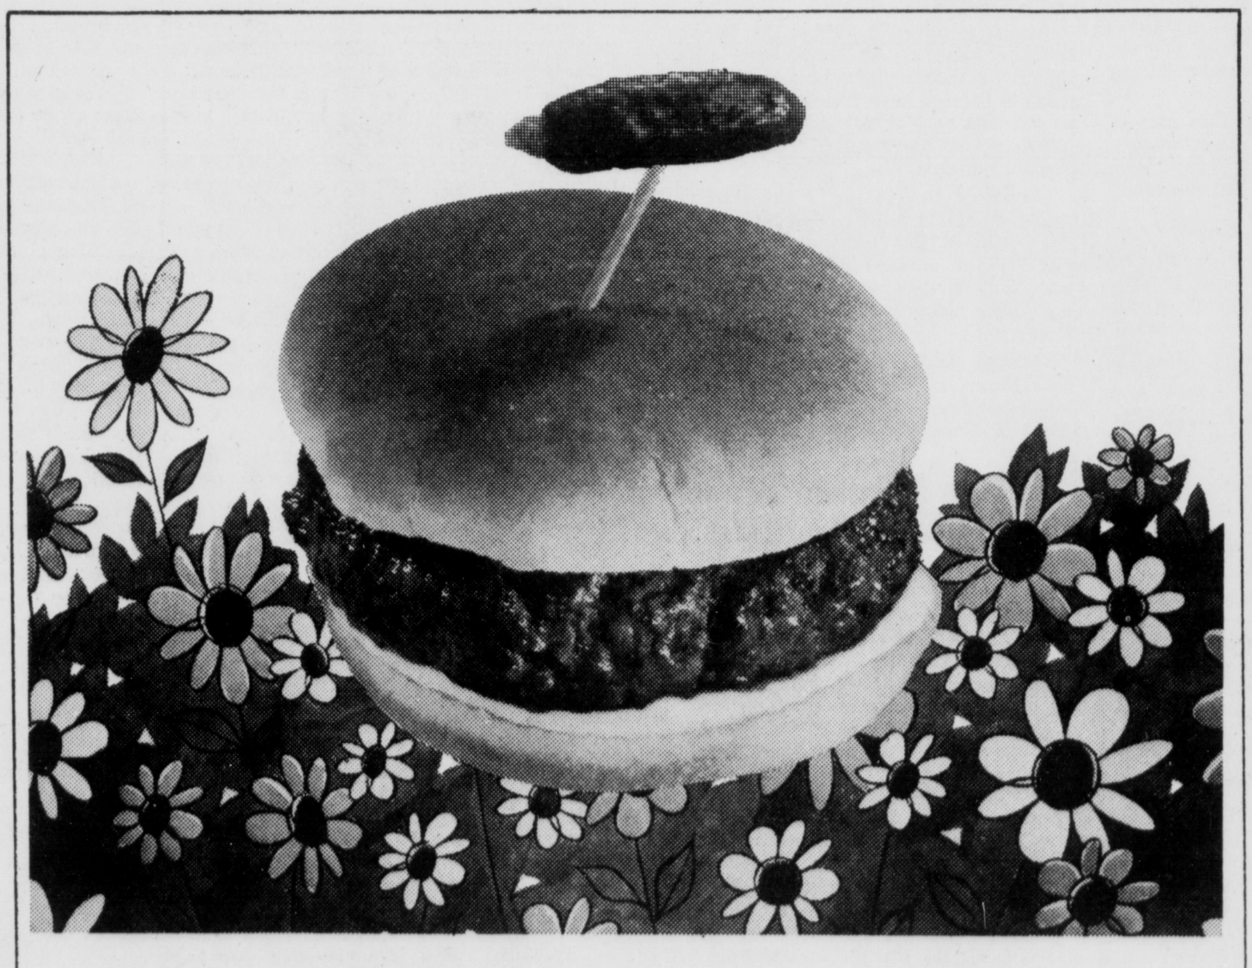

According to Whitehall Township police, a truck driven by Michael S. Colombo, 18, of Allentown, was in collision with the rear of the Miller car at the intersection of Route 145 and Mickey road. Police said Colombo was learning how to drive but was accompanied by a licensed driver.

Bangor to form bugle corps

BANGOR — The formatior of a senior drum and bugle corps will take place at 7:30 p.m. August 8 at the American Legion Post, 11 N. Main St., Bangor.

Instructors will be hired and new equipment purchased for a senior corps. All are invited and no experience is necessary.

Eagleton affair hurt Democrats

This whole Eagleton affair has left a lot of people with a sour taste in their mouths. And with good reason.

From start to finish, it was badly handled. Part of the blame must devolve upon Sen. Thomas Eagleton, of course. Knowing he was under consideration for the vice presidential nomination, he should have alerted Sen. George McGovern, the presidential nominee, that he had undergone psychiatric treatment several years before.

While we still feel psychiatric therapy doesn't disqualify a man for public office, it nonetheless is an important factor to consider, bearing in mind the pressure cooker atmosphere of national politics and the prejudices of many people.

Caught off-guard

As it was, Sen. McGovern was caught completely flat-footed by Eagleton's admission six days ago (and even then, McGovern was told only because a newspaper had dug up the facts and was about to print them).

From that point on, the situation degenerated. McGovern, who at first stood staunchly by his running mate, began to waver in the face of the furor caused by Eagleton's statement and a further charge of drunk driving (since recanted by its perpetrator, columnist Jack Anderson).

It must have begun to seem that Eagleton's disclosure of past maladies would irreparably harm Democratic chances in November, for McGovern's original stand wavered throughout the week from, "I'm 1,000 per cent behind you, Tom," to, "whether or not you stay on the ticket is up to you and the public's reaction, Tom."

The point is, of course, that McGovern wants to win the November election. And anything that might stand in the way of that goal must be discarded. It is a harsh judgment, but a reasonable one.

It is foolish to contend that an idealogue such as McGovern should maintain those ideals to the point of standing by his crippled running mate even though it costs him the election. A man's ideals are useless if he cannot attain the level of power needed to implement them.

Reasoning weak

The reason McGovern gave for Eagleton's resignation was well presented, but a trifle weak. His claim that Eagleton's mental condition was so dominating the news that the issues on which this campaign will be fought were being submerged is sensible, but obviously a cover for the real reason: With Eagleton, McGovern felt he could not win.

We feel he has hurt his chances more than enhanced them. We think McGovern should have stuck by his man. The furor would have died down soon enough (what kept it alive more than anything else was the speculation over what McGovern was going to do) and the issues could have been discussed in their time.

It is probably too late for the McGovern bandwagon now, issues or not. His second choice for running mate will hardly affect that, unless Sen. Edward Kennedy joins the fray — an extremely doubtful possibility.

As a final irony, many pundits felt that the selection of Eagleton, an unknown, hurt the ticket. Now Eagleton is a household name, and that, apparently, hurt more.

The Pennsylvania Story

School support in balance

HARRISBURG — School's out but the manner in which it is paid for is being pondered by the U.S. Supreme Court; if the high court rules against the current system, Pennsylvania and other states will have to snap to with another form of taxation.

Pennsylvania is involved in the form of a "friend of the court" brief filed by Attorney General J. Shane Creamer in the case of San Antonio School District vs. Rodriguez.

At issue is whether property taxation — the prevailing form of supporting schools — is fair since the more well-to-do neighborhoods tend to have plushier schools.

Meanwhile, across the tracks where property values sink, so do the physical plant and education quality, according to those who oppose property taxation as the basis for paying for education.

It is also interesting to note that part of Creamer's brief refers to Governor Shapp's proposed National Education Trust Fund (NETF) which is a sort of "soak the educated" plan to finance schooling.

Redundant plan

Under NETF, for example, a college graduate would have to pay a higher percentage of taxable income than a high school grad. (What NETF fails to recognize or either conveniently ignores is the fact that the educated pay more taxes now, anyhow, since their incomes usually rise by the degree. And these same higher income grads usually own more expensive houses and thus pay higher property taxes, anyhow.)

Be that as it may, NETF smacks of the same "pie-in-the-sky" approach to education that Shapp bandied about during his previous unsuccessful run of the governorship. Many political pundits cited his promise of a free college education for all as a big factor in his 1966 defeat.

The current court controversy began a year ago in California when the California Supreme Court invalidated that state's system of financing public education through taxation on real estate.

In commenting on that development this column said at the time that, "it won't be too surprising" if similar legal action is pursued by Pennsylvania.

Should the Supreme Court rule against property taxation as a means to support schools, this State would not face as massive tax surgery as others since Pennsylvania's bulk of school tax money is not borne by real estate taxation. State subsidies flowing from the 6 per cent sales tax account for a little better than half of school district support here.

Changeover not easy

However, local governments throughout the State would face a changeover headache because 76 per cent of local funding of Pennsylvania school districts come from local taxes on real estate.

If property taxes go by the boards, a substitute tax, of course, would have to fill the void. Even though this would not be an increase in taxes it nevertheless would be a new tax and thus have a bad psychological impact upon taxpayers when viewed from the vantage point of lawmakers.

Another tax issue is the last thing legislators running for re-election want to tangle with at this point in time. Many of these "re-run" seekers voted for the state income tax and they would just as soon their constituents not be bothered with any sort of taxation.

Because the mood of tax-weary voters in Pennsylvania is such now that any further irritation could mean "school's out" for a number of incumbents come next November.

Open space gambit

In retrospect

By Bert Walter

The Monroe County Commissioners are very much concerned — on the surface, at least — about the amount of available open space in Monroe County and want to do something to preserve it.

Their concern is very commendable.

On Monday, the commissioners expressed their concern publicly and launched a drive to change Pennsylvania's Act 515 (the open space law) which is designed to lower assessments for underdeveloped tracts of land.

In other words, if a man has, say, 10 acres of prime land he does not want developed but to remain in its natural state for the sake of the county's esthetics and environment, he is now penalized with respect to taxes. Land is still assessed for its most profitable use and if an assessor feels one parcel of land would be excellent as a commercial property, the land would naturally be assessed at such a value, although it may be nothing but woodland.

But there are property owners in Monroe County who are truly concerned with the lack of open space available: just plain pretty Pocono countryside with no billboard, cottage, service station, hot dog stand or anything to scar the scenery. The initial concern of the commissioners would allow an individual such as this to be given a "tax break" on this property if he states in writing that this land would not be developed for five years. It is a good and proper idea.

We wonder, however, why the commissioners feel they must change a state law in order to accomplish this. The three commissioners believe that the law must be changed to include sixth class counties in Act 515, which the law currently does not include.

We argue this point, and for a good reason.

If the Monroe County Commissioners want to give a special assessment rate for undeveloped land, there is nothing to stop them from doing so. They do not need a special state law.

The matter of property assessment and exonerations is strictly up to them. We have witnessed this since 1959 during the first reassessment program when the county had its own system of land classifications for taxation. And it still has its own system.

The commissioners need only to adopt a policy into their taxing program to establish a special assessment for property which would remain undeveloped. It's as simple as three "ayes."

Why, then, do the commissioners want to change the state law to include sixth class counties?

We have our own idea, and a well founded one, we believe.

The Pennsylvania Land Developers Association met with the commissioners last week in order to get special tax dispensation. A regular Pandora's box would be opened if the commissioners decided to give land developers (speculators) special tax concession.

According to the Monroe County Subdivision Ordinance, a land development must contain a specific amount of open space in order to cut down on living density per square mile.

We feel the commissioners have taken the first step in giving the land developers their tax break, although they are not doing it openly.

The developers, without a doubt, can and probably would immediately demand special real estate assessments for the open space they have in their developments. For this reason, we feel the commissioners are trying to amend the state law to include sixth class counties rather than by outright action giving the concession to undeveloped land owners.

If the commissioners are successful in the change, and when the developers demand their concessions, the commissioners need only sit back and say "Our hands are tied, it's state law."

Well, their hands aren't tied now and if they truly want to preserve the open space for the individual land owner or give concessions to developers, they should act now rather than beat around the bush at the expense of the average Monroe County home owner who still foots most of the bill.

Merry-go-round

A hit is born

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Record promoters offer drugs, whiskey, prostitutes, Las Vegas wingdings, TV sets and autos to get their records on the "top 45" rating charts. But hard cash remains the favorite payola medium.

As evidence, here's the anatomy of a typical payola case from our six-month-long investigation.

Rebel Recording, a bold and brassy Maryland company, has been pushing the record, "The Legend of the Rebel Soldier." It appeared on the rating charts of Tri-State Distributors, Fort Wayne, as one of the "comers" in the country music field.

Such charts are used by broadcasters for choosing records to play. The charts, therefore, can make or break a new record.

Tri-State's owner is Cliff Ayers Ostermeyer, a one-time recording star, who has now gone into the record promotion-distribution business.

Out of the blue, Ostermeyer fired off a letter to Rebel's president, Charles Freeland, about his new hit record. The letter made no bones about how Freeland could keep "The Legend of the Rebel Soldier" on the rating charts.

It would cost, wrote Ostermeyer, "100 promo records" and $100 in cash for "the promo girls."

Working with us, Freeland made a call from our office to Ostermeyer in Nashville to learn whether the payola letter meant what it said. Here is a partial transcript of the telephone call:

Curious conversation

Freeland: "We think the thing will go. What would be the fee? $100 and 100 records?"

Ostermeyer: "Yeah."

Freeland: "Where would you be working with it?"

Ostermeyer detailed where he would promote the records, then they came back to the cost. The ante had gone up.

Ostermeyer: "That's 100 records in Indiana (Ostermeyer's home office) and 100 in Nashville (the Tennessee branch), oh, and $100 up there and $100 down here . . . You'll get your money's worth."

Freeland: "Well, we have some money to spend."

Ostermeyer: "It'll cost you some money . . ."

Freeland: "What's chances of moving it up on the charts if we spend a little more money . . . ?"

Ostermeyer: "For $100, we put it up in the Top 45. I'd give you a 36 spot (on the Top 45 ratings). Then when Miss Cott from Billboard (a national magazine carrying charts) calls me, then I can back it up."

Freeland: "That would be moving up."

Ostermeyer: "It'll cost you another $100 right away. We'll have to move a client out of that spot."

Freeland: "Where should I send it?"

Ostermeyer: "Send two (hundred dollars) to Tri-State and one (hundred) to Nashville. Get that airmail."

The conversation indicated that the record's rating would be determined not by its popularity with listeners, but by cash on the barrelhead.

Billboard magazine denied that it uses Ostermeyer's charts. And Ostermeyer, confronted with the transcript of his conversation, insisted that money could not buy a record's way onto his Top 45 list. "If I said that, I'm wrong," he told my associate Les Whitten.

Blue Cross cuts

Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the nonprofit health insurance groups, secretly cut back on benefits to federal employes at the same time they were clamoring for a whopping rate increase.

The rate boosts will cost the little people at the bottom rungs of government anywhere from $75 million to $95 million in unjustified premiums in 1972 alone.

Blue Cross bigwigs went before the Civil Service Commission in June, 1971, with a request for a 53 per cent increase in the Federal Employes Health Benefit Program. They finally settled for a more modest 22 per cent hike.

About the same time, the Blue Cross official in charge of the federal program, Joseph Harvey, devised a scheme to restrict benefits to government employes, thereby saving Blue Cross-Blue Shield millions.

Stories Behind Words

Toady

Centuries ago most people believed that the toad was poisonous. Some persons took advantage of this belief to fleece others.

These unscrupulous men traveled from town to town, selling their "medicine," which they said would cure almost anything.

Each took along an assistant who ate, or pretended to eat, a toad. Sometimes the master had to beat the assistant to make him perform his act. After the assistant ate (or pretended to eat) the toad, he took some of the master's "medicine" to prove its alleged curative powers.

The assistant, whom the audience regarded with repugnance, was called a "toadeater." The name was shortened to "toady" and was applied to anyone who did an unseemly act to gain favor with a superior.

McClellan path diverges from Ellender's

By JACK McWETHY
Congressional Quarterly

WASHINGTON — The death of the Senate's most senior Democrat, Allen Joseph Ellender of Louisiana, brings to the chairmanship of the powerful Appropriations Committee 76-year-old John L. McClellan (D Ark.) — a man with a record as a tough Senate investigator who has voted with rare exceptions down-the-line as a southern conservative.

Unlike Ellender, who during his 18 months as committee chairman stirred up resentment of some members of Congress by saying the Soviet threat was being exaggerated by the Pentagon, McClellan maintains a deep-seated concern for the military potential of the Communist bloc nations.

Ellender, 81, had a reputation as a maverick on defense matters and in recent years McClellan has supported some of Ellender's unpopular attempts to cut back defense spending. Three times last year Ellender sought unsuccessfully to cut Defense Department appropriations. McClellan supported the chairman on two of the votes.

McClellan supported the end-the-war Mansfield amendment in 1971 but voted against a tougher troop withdrawal proposal July 24 this year. The amendment passed anyway. McClellan then voted to kill the entire foreign aid bill to which the anti-war amendment was attached. It was the second consecutive year that McClellan helped defeat the foreign aid bill.

Voting record

During McClellan's 30 years in the Senate, he has been a staunch supporter of the conservative coalition (southern Democrats voting with a majority of Republicans). In Congressional Quarterly voting studies from 1959 to 1972, McClellan has supported Republican and Democratic administrations at about the same rate — half the time voting with the President's announced position, half the time opposing it. The Arkansas senator opposed the voting rights bills of 1965 and 1970, plus the civil rights bills of 1957, 1959, 1960 and 1964.

In recent key votes on defense matters, McClellan has generally supported the administration's position. He voted against cutting funds from the ABM system in 1969 and 1970. He opposed a one-year extension of the draft, favoring the two-year conscription proposal instead.

Committee changes

Ellender's death July 27, caused shifting of chairmanships on other committees besides Appropriations. In order for McClellan to take over Appropriations, he had to give up chairmanship of the Government Operations Committee.

This was the committee where McClellan first received national recognition by steering the Permanent Investigating Subcommittee into controversial probes of labor racketeering, union pension fund frauds and the TFX (now F-111) swing-wing fighter-bomber program. It was the committee McClellan took control of in 1955 after the Democrats again won a Senate majority. McClellan replaced Republican Joseph R. McCarthy (Wis.) as chairman.

Although Sen. Henry M. Jackson, a Washington Democrat, has seniority on the Government Operations Committee, he is not expected to replace McClellan as chairman. Jackson would have to give up his position as chairman of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee to take over Government Operations, and staff sources say he can do more for his home state of Washington by remaining chairman of the Interior Committee.

Next in line for McClellan's old job is Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D N.C.) who currently has 12 subcommittee assignments on four committees, but who does not hold the top position of any full committee.

No taxpayers escaped Agnes

By JANE SHOEMAKER

HARRISBURG (UPI)— Every Pennsylvania taxpayer will feel the effects of Hurricane Agnes.

Motorists will pay an extra two cents on each gallon of gas to rebuild roads — the largest single task of the state.

Owners of flood - damaged homes will get a break on their property taxes.

Businesses forced to lay off workers because of the flood will have unemployment compensation tax increases picked up by the federal government.

This is the way Gov. Milton J. Shapp intends to lighten the tax burden on the flood victims while providing enough money for reconstruction.

Shapp has asked the General Assembly to approve the tax changes when it returns for a special session Aug. 15. They are part of a 10-point program designed to rebuild roads, homes and businesses.

Nearly every family will be affected by the emergency gasoline tax hike. It will increase the state tax on each gallon from eight cents to ten cents.

The extra two cents are expected to bring in about $100 million a year. By law, all of it must be used for highways and bridges.

According to Shapp's proposal the increase will remain at two cents from September, 1971, until September, 1974, when it would fall to one cent.

A similar tax was levied on cigarettes in 1955 after Hurricane Diane. It was lifted after two years.

Jacob Kassab, secretary of transportation, said there is no way to tell how long the emergency tax will last on gasoline.

"We just don't know how much money we will be getting from the federal government," Kassab told United Press International. "We have half a billion dollars worth of damage to our roads and although the federal government says it pays 100 per cent, it never does."

Kassab said the decision was made for the emergency tax after Pennsylvania officials consulted with transportation experts in West Virginia and South Dakota, both scenes of recent floods.

"They were lucky," he said. "They claimed to collect 70 per cent in West Virginia and 50 per cent in South Dakota. I don't think Pennsylvania is going to get over 65 per cent of its bills paid."

Kassab said the new tax revenue would permit his department to make immediate repairs instead of waiting for the federal money to come through.

"We haven't gotten one cent yet, and we must go ahead with the repairs," he said. "There are areas which are strangled."

PennDOT now is using its maintenance fund for flood repairs. "That's money we should be using for resurfacing and fixing potholes, but it is all we have available," Kassab said.

He said most of the flood damage can be repaired within two years, but some of the larger bridges may take much longer.

"The worst damage structure is the North St. Bridge in Wilkes-Barre," Kassab said. "We will be on a rush program to finish that within two years. Normally it would take six."

The gas tax is the most pressing of the three proposals. According to Paul Smith, secretary of labor and industry, nothing needs to be done about the Unemployment Compensation Fund until next summer.

"The fund is in no danger right now," Smith said. "We have over $617 million in it — enough to cover all the regular claims and the flood claims, too."

But Smith said new legislation is needed to make certain that employers who were forced to lay off workers this summer because of flood damage do not suffer major tax increase in fiscal 1973-74.

According to the federal law which established unemployment compensation, a business is taxed according to how much money its employees took out of the fund in the previous year.

Since the flood did not take place until after the start of the current year, it cannot legally be added onto employers' bills until next July.

"My people tell me they think the total flood charges will come to $25 million, Smith said. "They won't feel the affect for another year, but theoretically speaking, those businesses will be climbing back then and will need relief."

Shapp has asked for a resolution advising Congress to amend the federal laws covering unemployment compensation.

Smith said the state has paid out $4.7 million to 77,000 persons during the first two weeks after flood relief was requested. By contrast, he said the federal government has paid out $226,205 to 4,706 persons.

"They have picked up only ten per cent of the flood-caused unemployment so far," Smith said. "We think they need to take more of the bite."

Smith said there was no way the state could offer relief from the unemployment compensation tax unless the federal government acted first.

"In 1955, after Hurricane Diane, we passed a law in Pennsylvania relieving the charges from the employer's accounts if they were from the flood," he said. "Washington disallowed it because it was out of uniformity."

He said all flood claims have been recorded separately "in anticipation of federal action."

"There's no hurry," he said. "All we'd like to do is be reimbursed eventually."

One form of tax relief which was approved after the "Diane" floods was property tax abatement for home and property owners.

Sen. Jeanette Reibman, D-Northampton, has introduced a new bill which is an exact copy of the 1955 legislation. It is the third tax proposal in Shapp's flood package.

"This would mean that all municipalities— counties, school districts, townships, boroughs— could abate taxes if the property suffered damage beyond ten per cent of the property's assessed value," Mrs. Reibman said.

If the tax already has been paid, the taxing body may either refund the money or give credit toward the taxes in the next year. Property owners would have to request the flood relief on or before Sept. 1.

"The legislators are prudent and reasonable people," Kassab said. "They realize this is a problem for the whole state."

PARTY? (Q.) Stephen likes me — I think. But he has a complaint about me. I have a 30-inch bust and he likes girls that measure 32. My name is Patsi. He calls me Flatsy.

He is in the ninth grade now and I am in the seventh. When I was in the fifth grade he asked me to go with him. I said no. I regret that now. He has another girl friend.

But we were both invited to the same party recently and we kissed most of the night. He seemed to like my kissing.

Do you think I could have a party and invite him and maybe get him back?

(A.) Stephen seems to be interested in you, but I do not think marathon kissing or a padded bra is your answer.

At your party, be friendly to everyone, including Stephen. Be natural, act yourself, and have an evening of games, dancing and interesting refreshments so that no boy and girl will have to entertain themselves kissing most of the night.

When Stephen sees there is more to you than lips and 30 inches around the chest he may ask you again to go with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peechatka, Tannersville, examine the stonework on the barn which Peechatka, a stone mason, built from concrete removed from the road for the construction of Route 611, one of many buildings in the area on which he worked. The couple was honored by the Tannersville Lions Club.

The work of their hands endures

TANNERSVILLE — The men on both sides of Earl Peechatka's family were stone masons so it seemed natural that he, too, should become skilled at the trade.

As a young boy, he helped build the little stone house which still stands on top of Big Pocono, walking back and forth from Scotrun every day while on the job. He helped to build Skytop Lodge. For several years he built stone arch bridges for the state.

He recalls working on the Reeders school where he nearly lost his life when a scaffold collapsed and he fell from the gable end to the ground.

One of the unusual outgrowths of his skill is the picturesque barn at their home near Tannersville. He built it from blocks of the old concrete from the old road when he worked on construction of the present Route 611.

These and other incidents in the life of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peechatka were related during the meeting of the Lions Club of Tannersville when they were the guests of honor. The Lions Club has periodically honored older residents of the area, bringing to life the history of the community as well as the part the residents have played.

They worked hard

Hard work at a variety of jobs has been a universal part of the life stories of the series and the Peechatkas were no exception.

Earl Peechatka was the son of Oscar Peechatka, a stonemason by trade, and of Anna Heckman Peechatka, the men of whose family also were stonemasons. He was born in 1899 and attended the one-room school which is now the home of Fred Kresge Jr. He recalls his first teacher was Wesley Transue who was paid $40 a month for teaching and doing the janitoring duties at the school.

Among Earl's classmates were Frank and Floyd Butz. One of his favorite stories of his youth is about the time he and a friend picking berries along the old Sullivan Trail were caught in a sudden shower and took shelter in the hollow of the old basswood tree where the historical marker is located.

At that time the tree was hollow but has since grown over until only a small scar remains. It was also much taller and when the thunder and lightning began, they reassured themselves "Whoever heard of lightning striking a basswood tree?"

After grade school, Earl worked part time for William Niering, driving the team from Scotrun to the Tannersville railroad station where he picked up the burlap-covered meat and took it to Niering's Meat Market. He also picked chickens for a half cent apiece.

Meet at Manor

Earl worked for 17 years at Pocono Manor where he started as a helper on the ice wagon. That is where he met Esther Wildrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Wildrick of Blakeslee, who also worked at the Manor.

Esther attended grade school in Blakeslee and later the high school in Pocono Lake where, with no school buses, her father, a carpenter, drove her to school in an old touring car.

After Earl and Esther were married their first car was a 1921 Model T Ford. Earl is proud of the fact that he has driven 55 years without an accident.

During their married life, they have never had time for many luxuries. In addition to his work as a stonemason, and at Pocono Manor, Earl worked for the Wilkes-Barre, Easton Railroad and Bethlehem Steel Co.

Mrs. Peechatka worked for 15 years in the school lunch room as cook and baker.

Their biggest achievement, they feel, was raising eight children during the depression years. The children include Martha Palazzola, Craigs Meadows; Richard, Robert and William of Henryville, R.D., Jerry of Little Mexico, Carole Nevil, Scotrun, Emma Searfoss, Reeders, and the late Shirley Curtis who died this past March.

All four Peechatka boys served in the Armed Forces.

The Peechatkas have 25 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Earl has six brothers and sisters living and Mrs. Peechatka has 11 brothers and sisters.

They have both been members of the Patriotic Order of Americans.

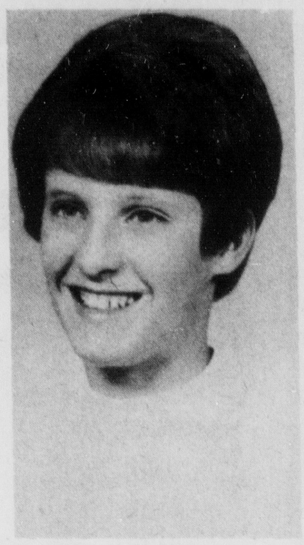

Finkbeiner, Curcio engagement

BANGOR — Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Finkbeiner of R.D. 2, Bangor, announce the engagement of their daughter, Bonnie K., to Richard J. Curcio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Domenic Curcio of Pen Argyl.

Miss Finkbeiner was graduated from Bangor High School and is employed at the Pen Argyl National Bank.

Her fiance, a graduate of Pius X High School, is in the family business, Tommy's Ford.

They plan to marry in March.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

As a very new reporter I decided to cover one of the big family reunions in person. Arriving at the fairgrounds, I found myself welcomed, registered and assigned a place at the tables before I could explain that I wasn't even remotely related. And for years I kept getting announcements of coming reunions.

Something short of like that happened to six of our visiting VIP's at the clambake. Arriving in mid-afternoon with activities in full swing, they were made welcome but were bewildered by the fact they didn't see a single familiar face. We do have a lot of new employes — but not that many.

Turned out they were at the wrong clambake. The right clambake which they finally found was certainly a gala affair, with more people revealing more varied talents that you can imagine: athletic, musical terpsich orean and capacity for corn and clams.

The fact that the affair started with golf matches at 8 a.m. and ended with people still singing their heads off at 10 p.m. goes to show we're more congenial than we sometimes sound.

Sunday morning there was a test of another kind when Rev. John and Trudi Bollier had to match up more or less familiar faces with the names of people in the congregation, many of whom they hadn't seen since 1963 when they left for California. They did it, too.

Speaking of memories I always enjoy the ones Jim Price revives with the Tannersville Lions series.

Golf hats win honors with birdie hole gifts

HAWLEY — The Lord's Valley Women's Assn. teed off as Mad Hatters with each member wearing a special hat. Winner for the most original hat was Mrs. Henry Mazur in one she had named "The Divot".

It consisted of a flat piece of green similar to a divot with a small bird perched on top. Honorable mention for most original went to Mrs. Irwin Rudin and Mrs. Joseph Jacobson; funniest to Mrs. James McLinden; and for happiest hat, Mrs. George Nye.

The golf tournament was for "The Birds", with four bird holes substituted for the 18-holers and two for the nine-holers, won by Mrs. John Brennan and Mrs. Irwin Rudin respectively. Low putting honors went to Mrs. Kenneth McKay for 18 holes and Mrs. Rex Criss for nine.

Phil Capozzolo, assistant pro, conducted clinics on impact and follow-through.

Mrs. Robert Blue, chairman of the ladies tennis group, reported winners of doubles tournaments: July 12, Mrs. Ray Cole and Mrs. Harold Lustig; July 19, Mrs. Ray Cole and Mrs. John Gold; July 26, Mrs. Harold Lustig and Mrs. Allen Gilburne.

Each week, Jim Fredrick, tennis pro, conducts a tennis clinic after the matches, using the club's new tennis ball machine.

SHS class plans 20th reunion Sat.

STROUDSBURG — The class of 1952 of Stroudsburg High School will hold its 20th reunion on Saturday, Aug. 5, at Cherry Hill Lodge, Henryville.

The cocktail hour at 5:30 will be followed by dinner at 7. A combo will play for dancing after dinner. Reunion chairman, Mrs. Richard Primrose, has received 80 reservations to date. President, Arthur Jolley, will be master of ceremonies.

The Slim Gourmet

By BARBARA GIBBONS

Skillet meat loaf

Did you ever make a meat loaf in a skillet?

When the weather's hot and you've no inclination to heat up your kitchen by switching on the oven, skillet-easy "Italian Meat Loaf Pie" is the answer. Despite its saucy Italian flavor and middle layer of melting mozzarella cheese, this jiffy main course is calorie shy — only 223 per serving. Most over-baked meat loaf recipes are much more calorific because they're made with fat meat and lots of starchy bread crumbs.

For this easy top-of-the-range hamburger dish you'll want extra-lean beef round — not chuck or fatty hamburger meat. Have the meat rrimmed of fat and ground to your order, that way you leave the extra fat on the butcher shop floor! And don't add any bread crumbs to the mixture. Why not save your starch calories for spaghetti . . . you'll enjoy them a lot more!

Get out a small nonstick fry pan and get started. In no time you'll be serving up beautifully-browned wedge-shaped slices of spicy meat loaf drooling with cheese. If you wish, you can top it all with tomato sauce and serve it with small side orders of spaghetti. Add a salad with diet dressing and you've got a complete meal for less than 350 calories.

Who says diet-wise dining is dreary?

Slim Gourmet
Italian Meat Loaf Pie

¾ pound lean ground round, trimmed of fat.
1 egg.
1½ teaspoons garlic salt.
½ teaspoon pepper.
2 tablespoons dried onion flakes.
1 teaspoon dried oregano.
2 teaspoons olive oil.
¾ cup shredded (3 ounces) part-skim mozzarella cheese.

Combine meat with egg, garlic salt, pepper, onion flakes and oregano. Divide meat mixture into two equal parts.

Use a small, eight- or nine-inch nonstick skillet. Add the olive oil. Put half of the meat in the skillet and pat in lightly to cover the bottom. Sprinkle on the cheese. Cover the cheese with the remaining meat, patting lightly so that cheese is completely covered.

Cook quickly over high flame. When bottom is well-browned, cut into four pie-shaped slices. Turn each wedge over carefully and continue cooking until bottom is well-browned and cheese is melted. Makes four servings, 223 calories each.

Obituaries

Henry F. Behrens

EAST STROUDSBURG — Henry Frederick Behrens, 78, of the Penn Stroud Hilton Hotel, died Monday in the General Hospital of Monroe County. He was the husband of Ethel (Gustie) Behrens.

Behrens was born in Staten Island, N.Y., a son of the late Henry F. and Anna Schweiker Behrens. He was a retired electrician.

He had lived most of his life in Stroud Township. He and his wife had moved to the hotel one month ago.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, at home are a daughter, Mrs. Natalie Ziegler, of East Stroudsburg; a step daughter, Mrs. Ethel Johnson, of Stroudsburg; a brother, William Behrens, of Long Island, N.Y.; a sister, Mrs. Edna Craig, of High Falls, N.Y. one grand daughter, one step grand daughter; a great grand daughter and a step great grandson, several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the William H. Clark Funeral Home, 1003 Main Street, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold C. Eaton, officiating.

Burial will be in the Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

There will be no visitation.

Memorial donations may be made to the Monroe County Heart Assn., 509 Scott St., Stroudsburg.

Benton Keller

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Benton Keller, 76, of Delaware Water Gap, died at his home Tuesday afternoon.

Born in Delaware Water Gap, he was the son of the late Clayton and Clara Van Scoten Keller. He served with the United States Army during World War I in France. He was employed as a chauffer for many years.

He was a member of the Thomas P. Lambert Post, 2540, VFW in Stroudsburg and Fraternal Order of Eagles 1106 in Stroudsburg.

He is survived by a sister, Miss Nellie R. Keller, Delaware Water Gap.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from the Richard J. Klofach Funeral Home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Raymond Poortstra officiating. Burial will be in Delaware Water Gap Cemetery.

Friends and relatives may pay their respects after 7 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

Laura M. Courtright

EAST STROUDSBURG — Miss Laura M. Courtright of 110 Broad St., Stroudsburg, died Tuesday afternoon in the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Born in Paradise Valley, she was the daughter of the late Henry B. and Emma R. (Shook) Courtright. She was a lifetime resident of Monroe County.

Miss Courtright was a member of the United Methodist Church of Stroudsburg. She was also a member of the Leisure Hour Club, Stroudsburg, and the Dames of Malta.

She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Verlo Carlton of Stroudsburg; one brother, Albert M. Courtright of Allentown; and 11 nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday, at 2 p.m. from the Richard J. Klofach Funeral Home, Stroudsburg, successor to Dunkelberger and Klofach Funeral Home, with Rev. C. Paul Felton D.D., officiating. Burial will be in Laurelwood Cemetery.

There will be no visitation. The family request no flowers. Memorial contributions to the United Methodist Church of Stroudsburg, New Organ Fund, are preferred.

Susan A. Fabel

EAST STROUDSBURG — Susan A. Fabel, 72, of Queen St., Stroudsburg, died Tuesday at the General Hospital of Monroe County.

Born in East Bangor, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott, she had resided in the Stroudsburg area for the past 47 years.

She was a retired legal secretary with the law firm of the late George Garrison Shafer, of Stroudsburg, and also served as secretary for the late Senator Harvey Huffman.

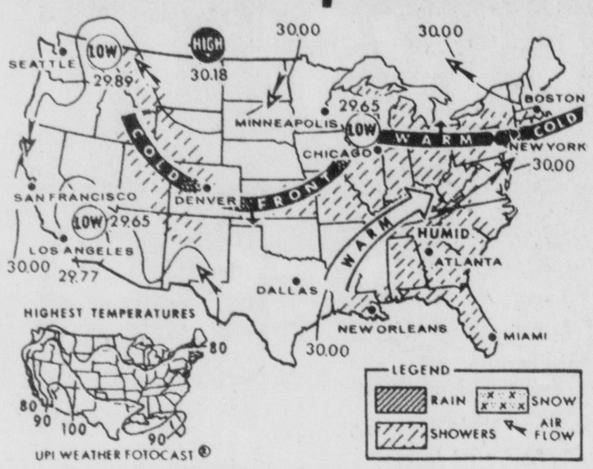

She was a member of the East Bangor Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Grover S. Fabel; two sisters, Mrs. Natalie Cary and Mrs. Russell Harris, both of Bangor, and a brother, John Short, of Bangor.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday from the Daniel G. Warner Funeral Home, Stroudsburg, with Rev. Dr. Paul C. Felton officiating. Internment will be in the Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Viewing will be held between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Thursday from the funeral home.

Reilly not present at special hearing

SCRANTON — John Reilly, accused of murder and manslaughter in the 1970 death of a 23-year-old Hillcrest School student, was absent Monday from hearings in Scranton called by State Auditor General Robert P. Casey, to probe the financial status of the school while Reilly and his wife, Lettitia, were still the owners.

Reilly left the United States July 20, under the objections of Wayne County Assistant District Attorney Nicholas Barna, allegedly to make arrangements in Europe for medical care of a retarded child.

Barna had argued unsuccessfully that Reilly be denied the right to leave the country. Wayne County President Judge James Rutherford, however, saw otherwise and granted Reilly permission to leave the country.

Barna said Monday that the fact Casey's hearings were being held Tuesday was brought up during these legal proceedings. "I know they were brought up, because we had received word from Casey that these hearings were scheduled," he said.

Casey had said following the July proceedings that a supboena would be issued for Reilly's appearance if he failed to show up at the hearings. "I know Reilly is not back, but I haven't heard whether or not a subpeona has been issued for him. I don't know anything about a subpeona," said Barna.

The auditor general's investigation is examining certain transactions at the Hillcrest School while the Reillys operated the institution. Attorney William Smith, chief counsel for the auditor general, had said during Reilly's hearing on his request to leave the country that Reilly had been notified of the date of the hearing. Reilly's trip is scheduled to conclude August 19.

Barna did say, however, that it was possible Reilly's wife might be on her way back to the united States to attend these hearings. "She was the person at the school with the bookkeeping records, so she may be coming back. But I'm not sure about that," he said.

In addition to the $10,000 bail already posted for Reilly's freedom while awaiting trial, another $20,750 was posted in negotiable bonds with the court by A. Emerson Howell, Honesdale.

Pet lovers put bite on Stroudsburg park

Cheryl Chandler's little "Sheba" made quite a show of herself during Tuesday's pet parade at Stroudsburg Playground and after placing in the best dressed category, she just sort of stuck her tongue out at everyone. (George Arnold photos)

There were a lot of pets around at the annual pet parade, so little "Wallie" found himself a comfortable shoe to get away from it all.

"Charley Brown," the Bassett hound, doesn't seem to care at all that he was named best of show during the annual pet parade, but his handler, Robin Samancek, sure was happy about it.

East-burg council pledges to strengthen police force

EAST STROUDSBURG — Responding to a request from a borough resident Tuesday, the East Stroudsburg Borough Council pledged to bring the municipality's police force to full strength in the near future.

David Swank, a borough resident, appeared before the council to relate an alleged assault in recent weeks following a youth dance at the East Stroudsburg High School. He asked the council to provide more police protection in the borough.

Council President Pearley Hunt promised Swank the local police force would be brought to full strength by the council's next meeting.

Due to illnesses and resignations the normally 12 man force had been reduced to eight men in recent weeks. The matter had been discussed at the council's July meeting, but the force still is below its full complement.

Five applicants for the force have been approved by Civil Service authorities and additional members will be added, said J. Wade Arnst, police committee chairman.

When they are hired the new policemen may have their first case of vandalism to investigate immediately. The borough's beleagured traffic mirror, intended to aid motorists negotiating the intersection of Bridge and Crystal Streets, has been broken.

Borough Manager Donald Gage reported the $80 mirror was apparently smashed by a hefty toss of a large stone.

Only days after the mirror was installed this spring it was stolen and then discovered near Notre Dame High School.

Council voted to replace the device.

In other matters, the council heard a report on the process of obtaining federal flood insurance for the borough. A meeting with representatives of the state Department of Community Affairs has been set for 7:30 p.m. Aug. 16 in the East Stroudsburg High School auditorium.

Council voted to reduce the speed limit on Lackawanna Avenue from 35 to 25 miles per hour at the request of residents along the street who petitioned for the change.

A request to have something done about truck traffic along the avenue will be investigated through discussions with industries in the area.

Counter proposals from two cable television companies will be studied by a committee and a report on the offers will be submitted at the next meeting of the council.

A letter from the board of health notified council of Stanley Melvin's resignation from that unit due to possible conflict of interest in his new post as codes enforcement officer.

Millbrook Days scheduled despite loss of old church

By BOBBY WESTBROOK
Record Family Fare Editor

COLUMBIA, N.J. — In the early settlements in this country, people had church services without a church building, meeting in the homes or later holding revival services in tents.

Millbrook Village, the historical restoration of the National Park Service, which lost its jewel of a church and the village store to fire earlier this year is going ahead with plans for Millbrook Days — including a church service in a tent.

The citizens committee, meeting Tuesday night at the National Park Service headquarters in Columbia, wasted little time in vain regrets, even though some of its members had lost personal items on loan in the fires, which were considered deliberately set.

Instead, they immediately launched plans for Millbrook Days 1972 to be held Saturday, Oct. 7 and 8 with activities from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Since the weekend coincides with the annual homecoming of the Millbrook Church, the Sunday services will also be homecoming. The Lyle, Kimble, Johnson and Chester houses will be open with the Log House for demonstration, the hotel, the school and a barn.

Horace Walters, past president of the Monroe County Historical Society, presided at the meeting when the members from last year were joined by wives of park personnel.

Elwood Grant will serve as chairman of crafts. Already scheduled are demonstrations of woodworking, quilting, weaving, spinning, wool dyeing and blacksmithing.

Mrs. Elwood Grant was named chairman of hostesses to recruit women to serve at periods over the two days as hostesses in costume.

Mrs. William Heitler and Miss Ann Selwood were named chairmen of exhibits with Mrs. Irwin Walter already recruited to secure an exhibit of Indian artifacts. The Historical Societies of Warren, White and Sussex Twp. have pledged their support with Pike and Northampton and Monroe counties to be contacted.

Arrangements have already been made for a catering service to provide lunches and suppers. The artesian well will be in operation for water and the park service will take care of parking and sanitary facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robacher will be in charge of publicity and Cecil Rhodes will again serve as town crier.

Also launched at the meeting was the idea of a permanent organization for Millbrook to project its future development and form a reservoir of officers and committees. Both Peter DeGellecke, park superintendent, and Albert Dillahunty, historian, were enthusiastic about the advantages of such a nonprofit organization.

The next meeting of the advisory group will be held at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 15.

130 judges to vote on salaries

Judge favors pay increases

By GARY GROSSMAN
Pocono Record Reporter

BUCK HILL FALLS — Pennsylvania Supreme Court Chief Justice Benjamin Jones Tuesday forcefully urged approval of increased compensation for judges in the Commonwealth.

Speaking to some 130 judges at the Pennsylvania Conference of State Trial Judges, Jones said state legislators should forget it is an election year and take a "courageous stand" favoring the increase of judges' salaries to $40,000.

"As head of the judicial system I call upon the legislature to be pursuaded by the facts and not political considerations," Jones said.

Calling it his "right and duty" to speak about the controversial pay raise issue Jones switched his previously announced topic to the matter of the Commonwealth Compensation Commission's recommendations for the judiciary.

Judicial pay hikes will come to a legislative vote Aug. 15 along with recommended pay increases for the executive and legislative branches of the state's government.

Recent polls indicate the 62 per cent pay increase proposed for state legislators will not become law if lawmakers vote on the issue according to the way they have been speaking.

But according to one judge attending the conference the matter of judicial increases can be separated from the lawmakers' pay boost.

Today the trial judges are expected to vote in favor of a resolution supporting Jones in the push for higher pay.

"Compensation for judges in Pennsylvania has not increased in six years. During the same period there has been a 30 per cent increase in the cost of living," Jones said, quoting news reporters.

He said Pennsylvania ranks along with Connecticut as the only states not imporving pay for judges since 1966.

Justice Benjamin Jones

"If we are to attract to the bench lawyers who will make outstanding judges, we must provide adequate compensation," Jones argued. He said 12 state judges left for federal positions in recent years where monetary compensation is better.

"My colleagues on the Supreme Court in Pennsylvania are paid $2,500 less than federal district court judges, the lowest rung in the federal judiciary," Jones stated.

He conceded monetary compensation is not the "sole or primary" attraction to the bench, but said many Pennsylvania judges ave family responsibilities and need more pay to maintain their families in a "suitable and appropriate manner."

"Increased compensation must be conditioned upon improvement of all three branches of government. To this, I pledge the judiciary," Jones concluded.

Monroe County's two trial judges, Arlington W. Williams and James R. Marsh, currently are paid $27,000 and $36,500 respectively. Williams receives the additional $500 as President Judge of the 43rd District.

Of the $27,000 he receives, Williams loses roughly $11,000 to state, federal and school taxes. The draw includes a pension fund for judges requiring 10 years in office before the state matches pension money.

If the pay raise is passed, the 13 per cent salary contribution to the pension fund would remain stable.

Individual judges at the conference declined to comment on the proposed pay increase, but a vote on the expected resolution in today's business session should indicate strong support.

Flood insurance studied

TANNERSVILLE — Pocono Township Supervisors, acting on a request from a township resident at a previous meeting, Tuesday took under advisement a flood insurance program for the township.

Chairman Horace Reish said the supervisors would study the measure prior to acting on it. Solicitor William Hansen advised the supervisors that the township would be required to file maps of township areas along creeks with the insurance application.

James Clancy, a township resident, then rose to question the actions of the supervisors. He asked whether people already living in flood areas would be forced to leave under this insurance plan.

Hansen said this insurance would apply to future building in these areas. "You wouldn't be able to build in the future in these flood-designated areas," he said, adding the township was not obligated to do anything other than make this insurance available to township residents.

"There is no obligation for us other than making it available. The real obligation is with the property owner," added Hansen. "We would generally be in favor of the program, but further study will be done before a commitment is made.

Hansen later added that it was his opinion that even though some residents do live along the Pocono Creek or other area creeks, these residents would be able to qualify for flood insurance.

Supervisors also voted unanimously to establish a township recreation committee, designed to make recommendations to the supervisors concerning recreation areas or programs.

Reish at first spoke out against establishing such a committee, saying "it was the wrong time to take this step because an all-purpose dam project is being built here." Later, he recanted, urging the citizens to "dig into it if you really want to."

Court rules in favor of Locust Lakes

Landowners press fight

STROUDSBURG — A $1 million property owners' lawsuit against the developers of Locust Lake Village in Tobyhanna Township will be pressed despite a first round victory for the corporation in Monroe County Court.

Attorney Michael Wetmore, representing the Locust Lake Village Property Owners' Association, said Tuesday he would amend a complaint against Locust Lake Village, Inc. within the next 20 days in order to continue the matter in the courts.

The year-old dispute between the property owners and the developer received court attention when Judge Arlington W. Williams sustained preliminary objections filed by the development corporation Monday.

The objections were made to a complaint in equity filed by the property owners in the October term of Monroe County Court.

The complaint alleges the defendant corporation used certain representations, both oral and written, including newspapers, maps, and brochures to induce persons to purchase lots in their development.

It further alleges the representations made to the property purchasers were untrue and were made to "cheat and defraud lot purchasers."

Involved in the dispute are charges of misrepresentation of recreation areas in advertising for the development. Property owners also claim they have been required to purchase aerobic septic tanks to satisfy governmental regulations regarding pollution.

In their complaint the porperty owners asked the court to restrain the developers from altering areas previously represented as camping, skiing, recreation, conservation and parking areas to plot plans for the construction of more homes.

It continues to request the court to restrain the developers from all advertising, cultivating, selling and developing homes and requests the developer be restrained from polluting waters in Locust Lake Village.

A $1 million grant for damages is included in the property owners complaint.

The development corporation filed preliminary objections to the complaint, two of which were recently upheld by the court.

In his opinion, Judge Williams sustained the objection claiming the complaint fails to state a course of action and another claiming the caption of the complaint does not identify the plaintiffs for a class action.

The complaint is characterized as a class action in the body of the document.

If the complaint is not amended within 20 days of the court's ruling, a judgment is to be entered for Locust Lake Village, Inc.

General Hospital directors reorganize, officers elected

EAST STROUDSBURG — The board of directors of the General Hospital of Monroe County Tuesday was reorganized as a 27-member unit during a meeting of the hospital's corporation.

Annually the board of directors meets as the corporation to organize membership.

Normally 27 members, the board was reduced to 26 by the resignation of William W. Malleson, Jr. after 25 years of service.

Two members of the board whose terms expired, Judge Arlington W. Williams and Edmund Strickland, requested they not be nominated for another term. Williams served on the body 42 years and Strickland served two.

Replacing the two are Richard Price, an auto dealer from Mountainhome and Karl Weiler, a manufacturer from Stroudsburg.

Seven other members of the board were reelected to another term because their terms expired June 30. They are:

Charles Bensinger, H. John Davis, Mrs. George Richards, Roger Dunning, Mrs. Raymond Price, Sr., Russell Hughes and Franklin Smith.

The balance of the now-26-member board is comprised of J.L. Cohen, Loring H. Cramer, Mrs. Elmer Christine, Jesse R.S. Flory, M. Russell Imbt, Sr., Mrs. Harold Ingraham, Garland Lipscomb, William Nixon, Harry Lee, Mrs. Walter McClelland, Samuel Newman, Charles Poalille, F. Linton Patterson III, Mrs. Seldon Ponder, Raymond Serfass, John Shinn and Dr. John Wildrick.

The entire slate of officers were re-elected to their posts for another year. Cramer remains president, Dunning, remains vice-president, Flory remains treasurer and Mrs. Ponder, secretary.

Chestnuthill adopts ordinance for new roads

BRODHEADSVILLE — Following a brief hearing Tuesday night before approximately 20 interested residents the Chestnuthill Township supervisors adopted a black-topping ordinance, which will take effect Aug. 1, 1973.

The new code will require all roads in the township to be cemented or blacktopped before they can be taken over by the supervisors.

Originally, the effective date of the ordinance was Jan. 1, 1973, but the time was moved up to allow developers more time to meet the new specifications.

Claiming five peoples' lives were at stake unless the township took action immediately, Effort resident Joseph Gagliardo complained to supervisors that diesel fuel from a neighbor's truck was polluting the air.

Solicitor Lester Brown explained the township had no zoning code and suggested Gagliardo contact the Department of Environmental Resources or hire a private attorney.

Allen Conklin, chairman of the Chestnuthill Planning Commission, asked the supervisors to allow a representative from the Roy Weston Corp. to speak to the board at the September meeting regarding the drawing up of the sewage feasibility study for the township.

The firm, which has already prepared a comprehensive plan for Monroe County, appeared at the township's July planning meeting and said that the feasibility study was needed at this time.

No meeting

MOUNT POCONO — The Pocono Mountains Municipal Airport Authority meeting which had been scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday was postponed. No other date for the meeting had been scheduled. The authority chairman was unavailable for comment as to when the next meeting will be held.

Wadkins faces 1 problem en route to title in PGA

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI) —Lanny Wadkins hopes he can make this week's PGA Championship his first victory as a pro —but he still has one problem he must overcome.

It is his inconsistency.

Unlike the allergies that annoyed Wadkins two months ago, he can't get rid of this one with a shot in the arm.

Wadkins, the brash youngster from Wake Forest, has come close to winning several tournaments this year. But he managed to fall short each time, generally because he had a habit of following a round of 64 with a 77, as he did two weeks ago in the American Golf Classic.

Although his money winnings for the year have reached $71,949, hardly a piddling sum for a 22-year-old in his first year on the tour, it is tournament victories that ultimately separate the top players from the rest.

"I'm just playing as well as I can," Wadkins insisted. "When I started, I didn't have any idea how long it would be until I won one. I always think there's a chance."

In the U.S. Open in June, Wadkins was tied for the lead midway through the third round when he pulled a drive into a forest. He took a double bogey on the hole and, unnerved, finished with a 79, shot an 81 the following day and dropped into a 25th place tie.

Doug Sanders, a guy who has been around for awhile, thought he had an explanation for such behavior.

"He's too immature to win a major tournament yet," Sanders explained, meaning that Wadkins must learn to forget the bad holes before he plays the next one.

Wadkins d.sagrees that is the problem.

"I've been down this route before," he says.

Indeed, Wadkins did win the U.S. Amateur title in 1970, making it all the more difficult to explain his last-round problems as a pro.

Besides the Open and the American Golf Classic, Wadkins shot a 74 in the final round four weeks ago at Cleveland to cost him a possible victory and drop him to a fourth-place tie. And last weekend he and partner Gibby Gilbert faded in the stretch of the National Team Championship.

The Oakland Hills Country Club course, site of the PGA starting Thursday, is a rolling, par-70 that measures 7,054 yards, the type of course on which a consistent Wadkins conceivably could make the breakthrough to his first tournament victory.

Oakland Hills puts a premium on accuracy, which is one of Wadkins' assets. It is also a strong part of Gary Player's game, which is why Player is being mentioned as a strong contender to win a second PGA title.

One thing Wadkins does not worry about anymore are the allergies which he blamed for hampering him in May and June when he went three straight weeks without winning even a small tournament paycheck.

Sanderson expected to sign Thursday in Philadelphia

BOSTON (UPI) —Center Derek Sanderson of the Boston Bruins will sign a five-year contract with the Philadelphia Blazers of the new World Hockey Association on Thursday, his attorney announced Tuesday.

Robert Woolf said published reports that Sanderson would receive $2.625 million for five years were "reasonably close," but he declined to discuss details of the contract.

"There is no question in my mind that he will be the highest paid athlete in America today and conceivably in the world," Woolf said. "It would be absurd not to accept it."

Woolf said details of the contract were worked out in Philadelphia Monday night. The Blazers scheduled an 11 a.m. news conference for Thursday to formally announce the signing.

Sanderson had turned down a $600,000 offer from the Bruins to sign with the Blazers. The Bruins had no official comment on the reports of Sanderson's defection to the WHA.

In other developments Tuesday the Bruins, already stung by the departure of Johnny McKenzie to the Blazers and Gerry Cheevers to the Cleveland Crusaders, headed off further trouble by signing defenseman Carol Vadnais.

Vadnais had been reported ready to sign with the Quebec City Nordiques who took his close friend, J.C. Tremblay, away from the Montreal Canadiens.

But General Manager Milt Schmidt said Vadnais, who was acquired last February from the California Golden Seals for three players, signed a multiyear contract.

The Bruins also announced that star defenseman Bobby Orr, who underwent surgery on his left knee in June, was mending "very satisfactorily."

"The knee is healing very nicely and the doctors are quite satisfied with the progress," Orr said.

Jones hero for New York as Mets top Phillies, 3-2

Sadecki, the third Met pitcher, went the final three innings to pick up his second victory of the season. The losing pitcher was Darrell Brandon, who came on in the 16th inning.

Alou leads Cards over Pirates, 7-4

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Matty Alou drove in three runs Tuesday night to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 7-4 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Alou doubled in the Cardinals' six-run fifth to drive in two runs to tie the game after the Pirates had jumped to a 3-0 lead. The double drove in Lou Brock, who singled, and Ted Sizemore, who walked. Alou scored on Joe Torre's double and after Ted Simmons was intentionally walked, Torre scored on Bernie Carbo's single. Simmons scored on Dal Maxvill's single and Carbo also scored when Vic Davalillo was guilty of a fielding error.

Alou also drove in the first St. Louis run in the third with a single that sent home Sizemore, who doubled.

Colbert drives in 13 runs with five homers in sweep

ATLANTA (UPI)—Nate Colbert set a major league record when he drove in 13 runs on five home runs, including a grand slammer, and a single in leading the San Diego Padres to a doubleheader sweep over the Atlanta Braves Tuesday night, 9-0 and 11-7.

The old major league record of 11 RBIs in a doubleheader was held jointly by Earl Averill, Jim Tabor and Boog Powell. Colbert's five home runs tied him with Stan Musial for most home runs in a doubleheader.

Colbert's feat, which gave him the major league lead in home runs with 30 and RBIs with 82, saw him hit two homers in the first game and three in the second, driving in five runs in the opener and eight in the nightcap.

Colbert staked first game starter Clay Kirby to an early lead when he slammed a three-run homer in the top of the first, then drove in another run in the third with a single and hit a solo shot in thee seventh. Clarence Gaston also hit a two-run homer in the first game

Three lead Yankees' rout in 10-4 win over Red Sox

BOSTON (UPI)—Roy White singled in one run and stole home in the sixth inning, John Callison hit a two-run single in the five-run seventh inning and Bobby Murcer slammed a three-run homer in the eighth inning Monday night as the New York Yankees throttled the Boston Red Sox 10-4.

The Yankees opened their scoring in the sixth inning with the aid of three Boston errors. Murcer doubled with one out and scored the first New York run when White punched a single to centerfield.

White went to second as Boston starter Sonny Siebert threw wildly on a pickoff attempt, took third on Ron Blomberg's infield out and stole home as Siebert delivered a high and outside pitch to Callison. Callison got to first base with the help of two errors as catcher Carlton Fisk dropped his foul pop and shortstop John Kennedy booted a ground ball.

The Yankees exploded for five more runs off Siebert by putting together five hits and a pair of walks after two were out in the seventh inning.

Perry wins 18th in 2-0 victory

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Gaylord Perry tossed a two-hitter in picking up his 18th victory of the season and rookie Buddy Bell belted a two-run homer Tuesday night to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 2-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Perry, who lowered his ERA to 1.63 in hurling his 19th complete game and fourth shutout, struck out six and walked two.

The Indians, who have won seven of eight games since the All-Star break, got Perry all the runs he needed in the second inning off Baltimore starter and loser Dave McNally. After two were out, Chris Chambliss slashed a single to left and Bell followed with his fourth homer of the season over the left field fence.

Perry, who joins Mickey Lolich of Detroit as the winningest pitchers in the major leagues, allowed only three fly balls to be hit to the outfield. The veteran righthander was in trouble only in the sixth when the Orioles put runners on first and second with one out. Johnny Oates lined a smash that Perry grabbed and turned into a double play.

Want to fix a race? It's not that easy at Pocono Downs

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A House committee witness, Bobby Byrne, touched off a series of charges against thoroughbred race track, including Pocono Downs, at a hearing late in June. Record reporter Joe DeVivo investigated conditions at the track to determine the credibility of the charges. In the last of two articles he looks at the jockeys at Pocono Downs).

By JOE DeVIVO
Pocono Record Reporter

WILKES-BARRE — A sampling of jockeys currently riding at Pocono Downs indicates remaining honest is the most important thing in their careers, but nevertheless "some" illegalities do exist.

One veteran jockey, who refused to be identified, admitted "electric whips are common" at racetracks across the U.S.

Recently the Illinois Racing Board revoked the license of jockey Lane Suire for five years after investigating a report that accused Suire of using an electric whip to prod his mount in a race at Hawthorne, May 9.

Johnny Bacon, one of the top riders at Pocono Downs, has ridden about 100 winners every year since he became a jockey six years ago. This year, he already has booted home nearly 100 winners, including 50 at Detroit's Hazel Park.

Bacon believes it is an uncommon practice for a person to attempt to bribe a jockey. He declined to comment whether or not he had ever been approached by a person seeking to bribe him.

"I make a good living by people knowing I'm honest," said Bacon. "I ride to win every time."

Bacon added he doesn't think there is any fixing of races at Pocono Downs, as charged by House committee witness Bobby Byrne in late June.

Ralph Baker, Bacon's roommate at an apartment in Scranton, started riding in rodeos as a youngster. He began riding professionally as a jockey on the Maryland circuits at Laurel, Bowie, and Pimlico.

"I really don't think there is any fixing," said Baker. "Sometimes the horses run good, and sometimes they run bad."

Baker, who has had almost every bone in his body broken while riding, said "if I was scared, I might as well hang my tack up."

His biggest thrill would be to ride in the Jersey Derby at Garden State Park, and if he's lucky, Baker may ride a promising three-year-old, Big Dot, in a $50,000 stakes race at Liberty Bell later this season.

Baker admitted he has been offered a bribe on occasion. He told the person, in stronger terms, "to get lost."

A 13-year veteran, David Benjaman, said "There aren't enough suspicious races to really make anything of it." Benjaman, who rode his first winner at Florida's Gulfstream Park in 1960, has ridden at Pocono's Shamrock meeting for the past two years.

"Trying to fix a race would be very difficult," he remarked. Benjaman noted anyone hoping to fix a race through bribery would not only have to bribe the riders, but also the stewards, and the members of the racing commission.

It's also difficult to find the right horses and get to them, the jockey said, and "practically impossible" to get into the paddock.

Banjaman doesn't know how much longer his career as a jockey will continue, due to the rigorous physical demands on the riders, but then "I never thought I'd make it the first 10 years," he said.

Don Laucirica, winner of 122 races last year, also doubts the existence of fixed races. "Anyone seeking to bribe the jockeys in a race would have to deal "with a lot of different riders," he stated.

A good rider can make enough money without "cheating." Laucirica noted jockeys at Pocono Downs earn $25 per mount and 10 per cent of a winning purse. It is not uncommon for a jockey to ride five or six mounts in one evening.

Apprentice Alex Temes, 20, is only in his second year of riding. Born in Czechoslavakia, Temes emmigrated from Hungary to the U.S. and soon started racing.

Temes stated he doesn't want to get involved in any dishonest dealings. "I like to ride honest," he said.

Like most of the other jockeys, Temes very seldom wagers at the track. He earlier had a chance to ride at two of the bigger tracks on the East Coast, Aqueduct and Liberty Bell, but turned down the offer because he wasn't sure he had enough experience.

All of the jockeys interviewed were naturally hesitant to discuss possible fixes in races.

Later in the evening, one of the jockeys who had no mounts on the night's card, sat in the stands to view the races. I sat with him, and if he knew ahead of time that any horses had been "fixed" to win, you couldn't tell it.

He didn't go to the betting window once.

Chargers acquire Thomas, Rossovich in two trades

IRVINE, Calif. (UPI)—The National Football League's inter-league trading deadline may be over but San Diego's Harlan Svare is still wheeling-and-dealing.

The Charger head coach completed his fourth major trade Tuesday—the latest several hours after the deadline—when he picked up his third big-name player in tackle Dave Costa from Denver.

In exchange, little used running back Eddie Ray and a third round draft choice were shipped to the Broncos.

Just before the trading deadline Monday night, the Chargers acquired premier running back Duane Thomas from the Dallas Cowboys and linebacker Tim Rossovich from the Philadelphia Eagles.

Costa, a nine-year veteran, was asked to leave the Bronco camp at Pomona, Calif., Monday after a run-in with new coach John Ralston.

In another transaction Monday, Svare sent sometime starter Jeff Queen, a running back, to the Oakland Raiders for future considerations.

Of the 15 trades swung by Svare since he took over the Chargers' leadership near the end of last year, the Thomas deal looms as the most important — either a bonanza or disaster.

Thomas has a history of moodiness and had no immediate comment on the trade. He had missed a Dallas practice Monday and Coach Tom Landry said, "I thought we'd reached the point where we had to do something.

"His failure to comply was a big thing. Basically, it was his indifference to practice. I could justify him feeling sick, but I can't justify missing practice because he didn't feel like it."

Svare is a disciple of Vince Lombardi and feels hard, punishing practice is essential.

"You can't play this game if you're tired," he said. "If your will power goes down, everything goes down. You can't concentrate on what you're supposed to be doing."

He said the trade was unconditional.

"My gut reaction was to take a chance. You have to roll the dice. Thomas is a rare talent. He is a superior football player."

Former Chargers' head Coach Sid Gillman, now an assistant with Dallas, apparently had a hand in the deal as he was a strong admirer of the men the Cowboys received, wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery.

The deal giving San Diego Rossovich for a top draft choice is more to Svare's liking as he runs the defense while Bob Schnelker is in charge of the offense.

Rossovich, despite problems with the Eagles' management, has been one of the highly regarded linebackers in the game since joining Philadelphia in 1968.

Svare also has acquired such linemen as Deacon Jones, Lionel Aldridge and Greg Wojcik during the off-season, as well as linebacker Ed Philpott to strengthen a woefully weak defense.

The Chargers led all of pro football in total yardage last year but lacked running consistency. Svare hopes Thomas, as well as big fullback Cid Edwards, acquired from St. Louis, will complement the club's always tough passing game.

Landry patience runs out; finally gets rid of Thomas

DALLAS (UPI)—Tom Landry has proven, for those who still doubted, that he is not a plastic man, or a computer or old stony face or whatever the popular phrase is this season.

Tom Landry had tried everything he knew to smooth over the off-the-field episodes involving an exceptionally talented athlete.

But at last he had become fed up to here with Duane Thomas. And he said so.

"I'm very patient," Landry said at the Dallas Cowboys' training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif. "I'll go as far as I can. When they go so far, then I stop. You go as far as you can, then you stop.

"I thought we had reached the point where we had to do something."

Duane Thomas, therefore, was traded Tuesday to the San Diego Chargers for two promising second year players —wide receiver Billy Parks and running back Mike Montgomery.

It seems like years, maybe centuries to the Cowboys, since Thomas first became known more for what he was doing outside he stadium than in it.

But it was only 13 months ago that Thomas, holding out for a pay hike, called a news conference and had his say about the Cowboy management. There was a lot of bitterness spilt at that session, but the most memorable comment was Thomas' opinion that Landry was "a plastic man."

It was remarkable that Thomas ever played another down of football at all after that, but four weeks into the season the contract dispute was settled, the harsh words were put aside and Thomas put on a uniform. Then, in succession, Thomas:

—Refused to talk to newsmen on every occasion except for the memorable post-Super Bowl television interview conducted by Tom Brookshire.

— Mysteriously disappeared from one workout session before the Super Bowl.

—Was arrested in Greenville, Tex., on a marijuana possession charge and subsequently pleaded guilty. He is serving a five-year probated sentence.

—Showed up a week late for training camp this season.

That brought us to Monday afternoon. When the Cowboys took the field for their daily workout Thomas was not among them.

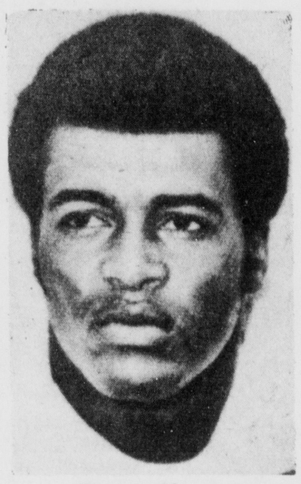

After the workout Landry went to Thomas' room to find out why.

"He doesn't feel like working today," Landry said after the session with Thomas. And that about did it.

Within a few hours, just before the Monday midnight trading deadline between NFC and AFC clubs, Thomas became a San Diego Charger.

There was no "conditional" clause in the trade agreement, such as there was when Thomas was briefly traded to New England before the 1971 season.

"His failure to comply was a big thing," said Landry. "Basically it was his indifference to practice. I could justify him feeling sick, but I can't justify missing practice because he didn't feel like it.

Walker traded to Rockets

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons Tuesday traded guard Jimmy Walker to the Houston Rockets for guard Stu Lantz in a "straight one-for-one deal."

Piston General Manager Ed Coil said the 6-foot-3 Lantz, 26, a former star at Nebraska University, is a "potential superstar."

Walker, 28, the Pistons' No. 1 draft choice in 1967 out of Providence, was on the National Basketball Association's rookie All-Star team in his first season and has played twice in the NBA's mid-season All-star game. He has a career average of 16.1 points a game.

But Pistons Coach Earl Lloyd became disenchanted with Walker's erratic performance last season and talked openly of wanting to trade the 6-foot-3 guard.

Lantz, 26, has averaged 20.6 and 18.5 points per game in his last two seasons at Houston after a rather modest beginning with the Rockets in 1968-69 when the team was in San Diego.

Lantz ranks second on the Rockets' all-time list in scoring with 4,947 points, minutes played with 10,448 and assists, 1,242.

Namath OKs for $500,000 to become most paid star

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath, the flamboyant and often controversial quarterback of the New York Jets, achieved his goal of becoming pro football's highest paid player Tuesday when he signed a two-year, $500,000 contract.

The contract, Namath's third since joining the Jets in 1966, called for an increase of approximately 30 per cent over his former contract.

Namath refused to divulge the amount of the contract, saying only, "I'm happy with it and it's for two years. The negotiations have been trying and I'm glad they're over."

But a source close to the negotiations revealed that Namath will receive $250,000 annually, the highest salary of any NFL player.

Jets' owner Phil Iselin, who made the announcement at the club's Hofstra University training site, squelched all trade rumors when he said, "Joe Namath started in New York, he belongs in New York and he'll stay in New York."

Weeb Ewbank, the Jets' coach and general manager, admitted that he had received numerous offers for the 29-year-old quarterback, who rose to national prominence by signing a $427,000 contract as a rookie out of the University of Alabama in 1965 and reached the pinnacle of his career by leading the Jets to a smashing 16-7 upset of the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl on Jan. 12, 1969.

"We had chances to trade him all along," said Ewbank. "But I wouldn't trade Joe for any quarterback in the game. We're fortunate to have Joe and the city of New York should consider itself fortunate to have a player of Joe's abilities."

Namath originally had asked for a four-year, million dollar deal but Jet management rejected that on the grounds that he has missed the major part of the last two seasons and is a high liability case with his surgical knees. Namath missed most of the 1970 season with a broken bone in his hand and virtually all of last year after suffering a knee injury in the first pre-season game.

"I'm not having any more trouble with my knees," said Namath. "We're treating them differently this year and it seems to be working. We're keeping them wrapped up all the time and there doesn't seem to be any swelling. In the past they would swell up whenever I played basketball or swam without the wrapping.

"I feel right now I'm at a better stage mentally than I've ever been in my career. I have made very few mental errors in the week I've been practicing and that's encouraging. I'm still not satisfied with my throwing and I'm not setting up as quickly as I'd like to, but that'll come in time.

"We have the potential to be a championship team and the responsibility is mine. Money is not the basic incentive in playing football. Winning is. You accept a great responsibility when you are the highest paid player on a club and I want the responsibility. If I can't perform well and we don't win then there will be no one more disappointed than me."

Ewbank said he plans to start Namath against San Francisco Saturday night in the Jets' pre-season opener. "Joe will start," said Ewbank, "but he'll stay in there just long enough to get his touch."

Ewbank also said he feels there is no ill will on the team toward Namath because of the high salary.

"The players all know Joe is the type of guy who can take them to the Super Bowl," he explained. "He's done it before. The players understand it and respect him for it."

Football training in brief

PHILADELPHIA — Sent guard, Dick Hart, a six-year veteran, to the New York Jets for a future draft choice.

Oakland — Traded wide receiver Rod Sherman and linebacker Duane Benson. Sherman, who had refused to report, was traded to Houston for tackle Gene Ferguson. Benson, a five-year veteran, went to Atlanta for a future draft choice.

MIAMI — Acquired veteran wide receiver Wendell Tucker, a free agent who started for Los Angeles in the late 1960s but was traded to Dallas last year where he saw no action.

NEW YORK GIANTS — Dropped rookies Larry Edwards of Texas A&I, Mike Zikas of Notre Dame, Tom Mabry of Arkansas, Chris Myers of Kenyon and Jim Poole Jr. of Mississippi.

PITTSBURGH — Traded defensive tackle Clarence Washington, who sat out last year with a knee injury, to Chicago for a 1973 draft choice.

Tourney winners

MARSHALLS CREEK — Dick Lantzer shot a 63 and Sue Werkheiser 65 to win the President's Cup Tournament at Mountain Manor Golf Club, Marshalls Creek.

Youth track program

EAST STROUDSBURG — Dick DeSchriver, East Stroudsburg State College track coach, has been coordinating a summer track program for area youth.

"Track events take place at 5:30 p.m. every Thursday, and sometimes last until 8:30 p.m.," DeSchriver said.

The competitions are open to all age groups with separate divisions broken into two-year age categories, except for children under six.

"We will extend our track program into the first two weeks of August (Aug. 3 and Aug. 10), because of the rainy weather in June," he said.

DeSchriver explained the bulk of children participating in the track competition are local youth, with some youngsters also coming from a 40 or 50-mile radius.

"We have had children who visit the Poconos with their parents from Lakewood, N.J., and Newburgh, N.Y., participate in the program," he said.

He also noted several local camps have been attracted to the program.

"Last Thursday we had a turn-out of 156 kids, but our highest has been 240 participants during one night," DeSchriver explained.

There is a total of 127 different events at the track meet including the 50 yd. dash, 100 yd., 220 yd., 440 yd., 880 yd., one mile and the two mile. Other events are long jump, triple jump, high jump, pole vault, shotput, discus throw, and the girls softball throw.

College expansion plan okayed

UNIVERSITY PARK — An academic policy plan to provide guidelines for the development of the Pennsylvania State University through the 1970s was recently approved by the board of trustees.

University President John W. Oswald said the plan was a "working document" that provides for colleges and campuses. It is the result of almost 20 months of work by teams made up of students, faculty, and administrators with continuous review by the trustees.

The plan projects a moderate expansion of graduate and professional degree work in accordance with guidelines established by the State Board of Education and the Department of Education.

The expansion in undergraduate education will be more limited, because of a declining birth rate in the late 1950s and early 1960s, and the growth of other educational institutions in the Commonwealth, notably the state and community colleges.

Relatively large increases are projected for continuing education, external degree types of programs, and other off-campus educational activities.

While emphasizing growth predictions were estimates, rather than specific targets, Oswald said it was anticipated that present graduate and professional school enrollment of 6,500 would increase to 7,200 by 1975 and 9,100 by 1980.

Undergraduate student enrollment at all locations, now at 36,000, would move to 44,000 in 1975 and 46,000 in 1980.

Sebring appointed to board

STROUDSBURG — Monroe County Sheriff Forrest B. Sebring was recently elected to the six member executive committee of the Pennsylvania Sheriff's Assn.

The association consists of one member from each of the Commonwealth's 67 counties. It is a professional organization dispensing information and coordinating innovations among the state's county policemen.

Sebring was elected to the post in a recent gathering of the organization at King of Prussia in Montgomery County. His term on the executive committee is indefinite because traditionally members of the executive committee serve as officers in the association.

Most presidents of the association have been drawn from the executive committee.

Deputy comptroller appointed

TOBYHANNA — Maj. Clarence E. Curtis III has been named deputy comptroller at Tobyhanna Army Depot.

The 38-year-old officer, a native of Oklahoma City, Okla., recently arrived for duty at the area military base. In his last previous assignment, he was nuclear effects officer in the office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations, Headquarters, U.S. Army, Europe.

A graduate of Middlebury College, Vt., he graduated from Walnut Hills High School, Cincinnati, Ohio, and holds a bachelor's degree in physics from Middlebury College, Vt.

He began his army career in 1958 and overseas service includes tours of duty in Germany and Korea. Among his decorations, he holds the Army Commendation Medal with two oak leaf clusters and the Expert Infantryman's Badge.

He is married to the former Jane Daly of Massena, N.Y. The couple has an 18-month-old son, Clarence.

Real estate course scheduled

EASTON — Mrs. Sally Frankel of the Frankel Agency of Easton will instruct a salesman's license review course at Northampton Community College on Aug. 7, 8, 9, from 7 to 10 p.m.

New regulations which went into effect July 1 require individuals to earn eight college credits before becoming eligible for a salesman's license.

A backlog of applicants for the July test may take the August examination under the old regulation.

Your Horoscope

Frances Drake

LEO

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) Your fine imagination, used constructively, will help you to win out now. Superiors will welcome your unique and original ideas.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) An excellent day for furthering business and financial endeavors, strengthening personal and general interests. You should do well now.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) An analytical look at your position may indicate some new avenues to pursue. Keep an easy, yet alert, eye on future moves.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer — Steadily increase the quality of your efforts where you can. Stimulate interest in items that have potential value and satisfaction. Ignore dissenters.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Generally benefic indications from your planets. Cooperate by approaching duties and extra-curricular matters enthusiastically. Watch your schedule. Keep it purposeful.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo — A more or less average day. Better finish, or at least further, existing plans and assignments. Starting new matters without sufficient preparation could lead to disappointment.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) Do not take a position for or against any issue until sure of your ground. Analyze "rosy" sounding propositions:. They could be enclosed in a bubble that will burst under pressure.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) You may decide to take up a new position, alter your course. Fine — if you don't bypass obligations in the doing! A challenging day, but one with which you can cope.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) Avoid an inclination to scatter energies. Keep on an even keel. Back intuition with facts, or you could make errors.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) While this day may have a few tricky moments, stellar influences will brighten considerably within the next 24 hours. Plan for bigger days ahead.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) Stars remain favorable. Contunie to use procedures which have proven themselves in the past, but also investigate new avenues and means to advancement.

February 20 to March 20 a)pisces) You, too, are governed by generous aspects, and can accomplish much in your chosen field as well as in any new interest you may espouse.

YOU BORN TODAY, like most Leoites, present an outward appearance of self-confidence and self-assuredness but, unlike most others born under your Sign, this often masks an inner feeling of timidity and insecurity. Try to curg this self-doubt for you have been endowed with so many fine characteristics and talents that, properly educated, of course, there are no heights which you cannot attain. Surest avenues of success: The stage, literature, science and the law. If attracted to business, manufacturing would be your best bet but, in such case, be sure to have some artistic outlet for contentment and fulfillment. Birthdate of: John Tyndall, Brit. physicist; John Kieran, journalist, author; James Baldwin, author; Peter O'Toole, film star.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 8-2

Worried about answering a blind box number ad?
(because you don't know who the advertiser is?)

If you are worried about answering one of these blind ads — since it may be your own firm — simply do this:
Place your letter of application in an envelope addressed to the box number and seal it. Then put the envelope in another envelope addressed to the Classified Dept., The Pocono Record, and enclose the names you do NOT want to receive your reply. If one of the companies (or individuals) you listed placed the ad, we will simply discard your reply.
Sorry, but we cannot return your letter without violating the confidence of our advertisers.

Jack O'Brian's

New York's Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Do you wonder at our affectionate fascination for Radio City Music Hall? For us it's very real: on our unforgettable first trip to New York City from our home town, exotic Buffalo, we went to the Music Hall and saw Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in "The Gay Divorcee." It was An Event for a very young lad.

Through the years unto now, we've never but enjoyed the Music Hall. Its movies almost invariably are worth seeing. If the public rejects a Music Hall movie, it is yanked almost forthwith; its policy is never to bore the public, and the only reason a movie of instant-dreariness isn't yanked immediately on the rare occasion of a mistaken booking is that logistical details of subsequent shows await the recognizable signs of hit or miss. It takes but three or four days to analyze the box-office to ascertain whether the incoming cash projects a long, short or intermediate run. If a smash, the building of sets and needling of costumes for the next Music Hall production proceeds at a relaxed pace; if a flop, the wardrobe department flails its thimbles like castanets and it's goodbye failure; not even a John Wayne is safe — his "The Cowboys" was considerably short of smash.

The Music Hall has been a talent scout for other theaters, other media: Robert Merrill once sang there before the Met's Rudolph Bing banged on his door. Judy Holliday sang in the chorus, for comedy's sake! Leslie Uggams disported there pre-Mitch Miller.

Marge & Gower Champion danced up a typhoon before Gower became a premier Broadway director. Gene Nelson, lately of "Follies," pranced there. The late Joan McCracken, who lit up the Broadway sky as "The Girl Who Falls Down" in "Oklahoma" and starred later and especially in "Bloomer Girl," worked there, en pointe. Ditto Nora Kaye, Melissa Hayden, Paul Haakon of the Winter Garden musicals subsequently and perhaps consequently; Vera Ellen, so gifted and so thin that when she danced sideways she disappeared; Lucille Bremer who went from the Copa chorus to the Music Hall, thence to H'wood films; Peg Leg Bates who danced himself fatigued on his wooden but proficiently tappable leg, answered the dependably inevitable show-stopping ovation with a perspiring "If you want more — I ain't tahred!" ... Add the Schola Cantorum, Olatunji, the African drum virtuoso, screen star Virginia Mayo (then the back half of a comic horse), and a lad we've always stood somewhat in awe of: Ben Dova, whose acrobatic name fairly exemplified his European music hall act, whose acknowledged proficiency in his comic defiance of stage laws of gravity were always flouted by assorted theatrical trickery.

Movies, however, since the second week, comprise the totally necessary backbone of the Music Hall. It never lacks for "product" simply because of its 6,250-capacity and consequent huge grosses — plus the fact that any movie that plays the Music Hall automatically comes to the attention of the rest of the country's, and the world's movie exhibitors as a product to be sought.

Erma Bombeck

Big production

Dear Mother:

I am writing you from a restroom in a restaurant just outside the city. While I am drying out, this seems as good a time as any to thank you for the pants-skirt you made for me from a new pattern that requires no zipper and a minimum of sewing. What will they think of next?

When I first received it, I must admit it looked like a slipcover for a pyramid. But after I figured it out, it really looked neat and I decided to wear it out to dinner this evening.

Shortly after we ordered, I excused myself to come to the powder room. I untied the belt of the pants-skirt and, voila, the entire garment slid off of me and under the door like a coral snake in pursuit.

As I leaned over the retrieve the skirt, the bodysuit I was wearing gave way and rolled up me like a broken blind and cut off the air to my windpipe.

This would have been a humorous situation had I not (a) peeked under the door and saw someone dragging my pants-skirt in their heel toward the door, (b) became so hysterical I dropped my contact lens down the commode, and (c) sprung a run in my pantyhose.

I peeked through the crack in the door and said, "Pardon me, Madam, but you are walking on my pants-skirt." The poor woman was terrified. Her eyes searched upward looking for the voice from nowhere.

"Where are you, dear?" she asked, holding up the garment and starting to walk away from me.

"No, no," I shouted, cracking my head on the purse shelf. "Here. Over here!" She slid them under the door, looked around suspiciously and left.

Meanwhile, back in the booth, I began to pull myself together. First, I shinnied out of the pantyhose, then coaxed the bodysuit down. I started to assemble the pajamas on me. I snapped them around the waist, took the rest of the material and heaved it between my legs and into the commode where it proceeded to sink.

I have been in the restroom for nearly 35 minutes now while a steady stream of tourists have filed by to look at me . . . a nearly-blind person, with a cut on her hand, hanging limp over the sink while the hand blower is trained on her backside.

I've been thinking, Mother. In the time it took me to come to the ladies' room, Detroit has turned out 1,372 cars . . . and they think that's a big production!

Opening lead — five of spades.

When Sylvia first joined the club, which was soon after she started to play the game, the first reaction of the members was that the Admissions Committee had made an absolutely dreadful error in accepting her application.

It was not that Sylvia played so badly — we had all seen lots of players who, despite years of experience, simply hadn't caught on to the game — it was rather that the errors Sylvia committed were of a kind that no one in their wildest imagination had ever encountered before.

But as time wore on — and some of Sylvia's mistakes somehow miraculously reacted in her favor — the membership grew more tolerant of her exotic approach to the game, and, in fact, her extraordinary talent for doing the wrong thing at the right time eventually came to be accepted as a legitimate part of her makeup.

One of Sylvia's earliest triumphs occurred on this hand where she was West and led a spade against three notrump. Declarer won with the jack and realized that he had to develop the heart suit in order to make the contract. South realized, furthermore, that his best chance by far was to rely not on a heart finesse but rather to play for Sylvia to have specifically the K-x or K-xx of hearts. In that case, leading the ace and another heart was likely to render the defense absolutely helpless.

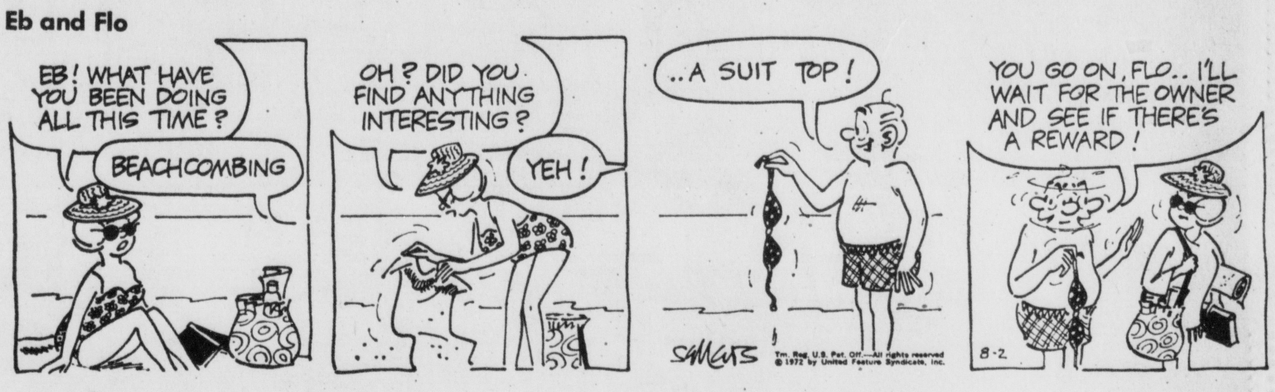

Accordingly, he led the ace of hearts at trick two, planning to continue with a heart. Undoubtedly South would have made three notrump had he been playing against anyone else, but when Sylvia accidentally played the king instead of the six on the ace, he suddenly found — to his great discomfiture — that there was no way of making the contract!

So, in her own inimitable way, Sylvia triumphed again!

Ann Landers

Bus driver's plea

Dear Ann Landers: You've said a good word for telephone operators, doormen, hotel maids, teachers, elevator operators, airline stewardesses and waitresses. Now how about a little help for bus drivers?

I've been on my job for 11 years and I enjoy my work, but I will never be able to understand the hundreds of women who get on a bus and start to hunt for their money. It's as if they thought they were going to ride free or something.

The woman usually has two kids and a shopping bag. Her pocketbook is at the bottom of the bag so she holds up the line for five minutes while she hunts for it. When she finally finds her pocketbook she starts fishing around for her change purse. While she is doing this she is pushed into the driver by impatient and exasperated passengers who are trying to get her to move. The driver, in the meantime, is attempting to drive, watch the traffic and let people off through the rear door.

When Mrs. Addlebrain at long last locates her change she drops it into the slot, shoves the kids ahead of her, steps on feet and snakes her way to the very back — and THEN she remembers she forgot to ask for a transfer. Back she comes through the crowd, kids dragging behind her — inconveniencing everybody.

If you will print this letter, Ann, I promise to frame the column and hang it in my bus. And I'll bet dozens of other bus drivers will do the same. Thanks, doll.

C.T.A. Charlie

Dear Charlie: Here's your letter — and if you frame this column and hang it in your bus I will know about it because my readers, bless 'em, tell me everything.

Confidential to Free At Last: Don't bet the rent, honey. It sounds to me as if HE is free but you will be paying for this decision for a long time to come. If he succeeds in talking you into a light housekeeping arrangement, write to me in two years and let me know if you still believe the decision was a good one.
